A CROWING CLOCK

Dog, Bird Share Roost

A Parkerford collie is carrying how the friendship started. Up 'til a portable alarm clock around a week ago he had 300 chickens with it these days.

Tippey, a six-month-old collie owned by 13-year-old Betty Hewitt, has befriended a rooster.

They eat together, rest in the shade together, sleep together, and in the morning the dog rises to the crowing of his feathered friend.

The rooster is the pet of Joshua Hewitt, 11, brother of Betty and son of Mrs. Ida Hewitt.

The Hewitts live on the old Route 83 in Pottstown and Mrs. Hewitt runs a small store there.

In case you don't know it, dog, that's chicken feed you're sniffing! But this dog doesn't care. He and the rooster have become such good friends since the rooster's 300 chickens have been taken away from him that they share everything, bed, board, and shade tree. The bird and canine belong to a Parkerford boy and girl.

The meeting concerns a project that will see a stretch of State street, from Sixth street to Reynolds avenue, widened to 30 feet and rebuilt at the State's expense.

Fall Over Wagon Injures Youngster

A fall over a small wagon resulted in a badly cut forehead for a Pottstown boy yesterday.

Samuel L. Barni Jr., 7, son of Mrs. Anna Barni, 524 North Franklin street, suffered the injury when he tripped over the wagon as he entered the garage at his home about 5 p. m.

He was rushed to Pottstown hospital by a neighbor, Mrs. Julia Rosenberry, 326 North Franklin street, where two stitches were taken above his right eye.

After a resident physician gave the boy anti-tetanus injections he was returned to his home.

Don't Await Concussion, Call in With That Tip

Many years ago an apple accidentally fell on someone's noggin and the law of gravity was discovered.

STRIKE THREAT ENDS; SPICER WORKERS BACK

Three-Day Suspension Called Off by Company

EVERYTHING IS NORMAL. LABOR, MANAGEMENT SAY

Work was resumed on all three shifts at the big Spicer Manufacturing division plant yesterday.

Threats of a general strike melted as the morning sun found first shift workers returning to work through the gates at the sprawling plant.

Management and union spokesmen last night reported everything "normal" on the three shifts.

Blair F. Miller, chairman of the Spicer Shop unit of Local 644, United Auto Workers (CIO), said "everything was normal today. Things were quiet. There was no more trouble."

MORRIS R. GAVIN, plant manager, reported, "The unauthorized walkout ended this morning with everybody returning to work."

The general strike was threatened when 70 employees of grinding departments 39 and 40 walked off their jobs Monday morning. Second shift workers failed to cross picket lines set up by employees of the two departments.

Approximately 50 third shift workers reported Monday night.

The company said Monday the 70 grinding department workers had been suspended for three days and had been notified of the disciplinary action by telegram.

Miller said last night, "The three-day layoff was rescinded. Everybody went back to work."

THE UNION had hinted there might be a general strike unless all employees were permitted to return.

The company insisted the strike was unauthorized and said the union should notify the company of grievances.

Workers in the grinding departments said they left their jobs because they were asked to do more work for less money since Dana Corporation officials decided to keep the Pottstown plant open this past Oct. 27. The union agreed to accept firm conditions for keeping the plant in Pottstown.

The last general strike at the plant was in August, 1945.

Pay Talks Scheduled At Flagg Plant by Union, Management

Wage negotiations between the bargaining committee of Flagg Local 2326, United Steel Workers (CIO), and firm representatives, will begin Tuesday.

Vice President Raymond L. Wilkinson last night announced the discussions will begin at 1:30 p. m. in the plant.

President Clarence Matz will head the bargaining committee.

William Robbins, new USW-CIO staff representative for District 7, spoke to 75 members in the CIO hall, 264 King street, on the Political Action committee.

He asked members to take their union work and obligations seriously and outlined the union program.

LEVI BURDAN was elected chairman of Local 2326 Political Action committee.

Members voted to pay expenses of ten children at Pottstown Community camp at Earlville on the banks of the Manataway.

It was announced the local picnic, would be held Aug. 1. The union festival will be conducted at St. Gabriel's lodge grounds on Aug. 5.

The union again is sponsoring a Kneebill baseball team.

Salesman Chases Runaway Auto, Brings It to Safe Stop Just in Time

A Firestone salesman hot-footed but then I looked again and saw nobody was in it.

NEES SWERVED to avoid being hit by the runaway, brought his car to a quick stop, jumped out and set out after the runaway. After a 75-foot dash, he caught up with it, scrambled into the driver's seat and braked it before it could run onto the sidewalk.

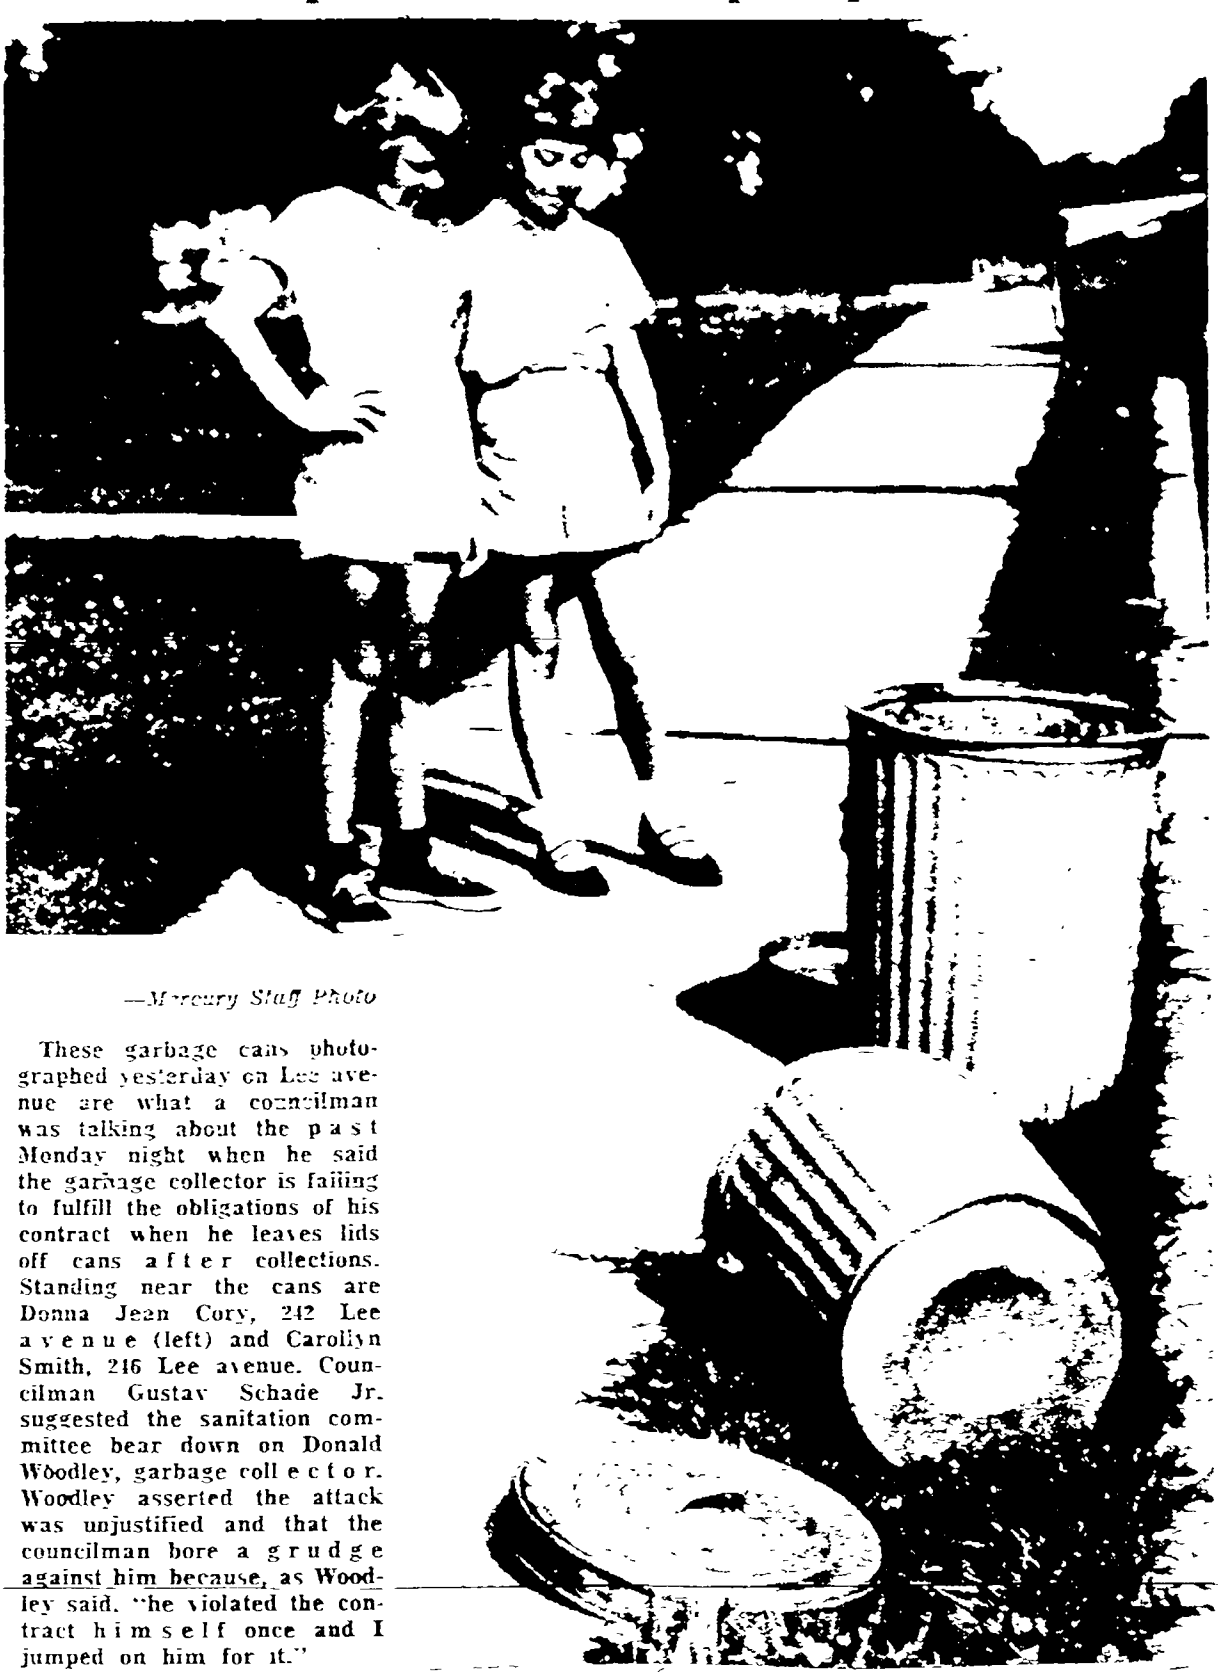

When he stopped it, the driverless car was still 40 or 50 feet from the bottom of the hill.

Edward Horner, proprietor of North Charlotte Street Service station, on the southwest corner, said the runaway car had been parked near his service station by an unidentified man in the neighborhood on business.

As he was driving eastward on Wilson street, up the rather steep grade to Charlotte street, he saw a car roll onto Wilson street from the southwest corner of Wilson and Charlotte streets.

As it started to go by him, Nees said, "I thought somebody was in it but just scooped down,

Open Cans Point Up Dispute

These garbage cans photographed yesterday on Lee avenue were what a councilman was talking about the past Monday night when he said the garbage collector is failing to fulfill the obligations of his contract when he leaves lids off cans after collections.

Standing near the cans are Donna Jean Cory, 212 Lee avenue (left) and Carolyn Smith, 216 Lee avenue. Councilman Gustav Schade Jr. suggested the sanitation committee bear down on Donald Woodley, garbage collector.

Woodley asserted the attack was unjustified and that the councilman bore a grudge against him because, as Woodley said, "he violated the contract himself once and I jumped on him for it."

At the meeting, Councilman

SCHADE, later backed up by Councilman C. Ray Eppehimer, asked that the sanitation committee meet with Woodley to make sure that he lived up to his end of the contract.

Said Woodley yesterday, "That councilman (Schade) has a grudge against me. I once found him violating the garbage contract himself and I jumped on him for it. Ever since then he's been holding a grudge against me."

Woodley wouldn't say what the alleged violation was.

"I'll save all my comments for the meeting with the sanitation committee," he concluded.

The increased request was made because of the employment of a trained executive secretary, Mrs. Elisabeth Doty, McKeesport, Allegheny county.

Mrs. Doty, a veteran of "YW" work, will assume her new post sometime next month.

SHE EXPECTS to increase the "YW" program to include a women's hobby group, business girls' discussion and social group, a teen-age group and a nursery. It is hoped the increased activities will boost the present membership of 500.

Members of Panel II, which recommended the appropriation, called the new budget "tight" and realistic. The appropriation represented the exact request.

Panel members attending the session in the "YW" were Chairman Mrs. Melvin Ferree, Mrs. Harold Binder, Dr. Elmer S. Friedberg, Mrs. Harold Glenney, William M. Hiester, Mrs. Richard Lindauer, Robert Roshon and Mrs. Clarence Yerges.

Jack Stomf and Lowell Wright of the Montgomery county and welfare council attended as consultants.

Councilman Has Grudge Against Him, Woodley Charges in Counter-Attack

Pottstown's garbage collector claims that the attack made against him at Monday night's council meeting was the result of a "personal grudge."

Donald E. Woodley, who has had the borough's garbage collection contract for the past two-and-a-half years, said yesterday that the council attack "was completely unjustified."

At the meeting, Councilman

SCHADE, later backed up by Councilman C. Ray Eppehimer, asked that the sanitation committee meet with Woodley to make sure that he lived up to his end of the contract.

Said Woodley yesterday, "That councilman (Schade) has a grudge against me. I once found him violating the garbage contract himself and I jumped on him for it. Ever since then he's been holding a grudge against me."

Youths Brawl In Spring City; 12 Are Seized

Twelve youths, seven of them juveniles, were rounded up by Spring City police last night during an interborough gang street fight.

The five 18-year-olds were each fined $20 on charges of disorderly conduct after hearings in Spring City borough hall before Justice of the Peace Harvey Shakespeare.

The seven juveniles were remanded and will appear before Chester county juvenile authorities this morning.

Police Chief John Hannebury said the fight was between a gang from Spring City and Royersford and a gang from Phoenixville.

ONE INFORMANT said that bad blood had been brewing between the two groups for some time, with periodic visits from one borough to the other made by both sides.

Fined by Squire Shakespeare were the following:

Diller Arvey, Phoenixville; Earl Hookway, Royersford; John Taggart, Valley Forge; Burgess Thomas Jr., Phoenixville; and Clarence Kinzinger, Phoenixville RD 2.

The justice was lenient in imposing the fines. According to the borough ordinance disorderly conduct, he could have imposed fines of from $10 to $100.

Although 12 youths were caught, by Patrolman Arthur Penrose, Police Chief Hannebury and Squire Shakespeare, who is also a special police officer, several others may have escaped the officers.

CHIEF HANNEBURY, who said that Patrolman Penrose was mainly responsible for breaking up the fight and catching the youths, said the fight, which took place at Main and Bridge streets shortly after 10 p. m., had barely started, when police stepped in.

"Nobody admitted throwing any punches but probably a few had been thrown," he said.

One of the youths sported a patch over his nose.

In keeping with the policy of The Mercury, names of juveniles are not printed.

Six-hundred men are employed at the Armormast plant. An additional 1000 work at Birdsboro Steel company.

Workers at both plants belong to Local 2348, United Steel Workers (CIO).

He Failed to Look -- Two Cars Collide

A Pottstown patrolman found refreshing frankness when he investigated an accident at Farmington avenue and North Hanover street yesterday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

George L. Binder, 374 North Hanover street, told Patrolman Thomas Corum that he probably hadn't looked in the rear view mirror before pulling out from a parking space.

His sedan was hit by a northbound coupe driven by Richard Custer, 127 South Washington street, Royersford.

"The accident was my fault," Binder asserted.

His car's left front bumper and fender and left running board were damaged. Custer's coupe had damage to its right front fender, headlight grill and hub cap, and the right door was sprung.

Elmer Jackson Remains In Critical Condition

Attendants at the Pottstown hospital reported early this morning the condition of Elmer Jackson, who was stricken with a heart attack the past Saturday, remains "unchanged."

Jackson, a well-known businessman in this area, was placed on the critical list when he was admitted to the hospital shortly after his attack Saturday at 3:29 p. m. while playing golf at the Brookside Country club.

5000 East Germans Swarm Over Border To Purchase Food

BERLIN, July 14 (AP)—A go-getter Western mayor cut red tape and fed thousands of hungry East Germans today in a heart-warming demonstration of practical food relief on Berlin's Iron Curtain border.

Communist propagandists let out a roar of rage at the act. The Soviet zone news agency ADN denounced it as "an American propaganda trick."

While the United States and the Bonn republic were still discussing ways and means of getting 15 million dollars of free American food to the stricken Soviet zone, Willy Kressmann went into action this morning.

As mayor of the American sector borough of Kreuzberg, he opened a relief market at 9 a. m. in Oranienplatz facing the police-guarded frontier of Soviet East Berlin.

By collecting private donations and drawing on borough charitable funds, he stocked the market with milk and fruits for sale to East Germans at less than a fifth their normal price.

Five thousand East Germans swarmed past the Communist police posts to gather up 1820 quarts of milk, 2200 pounds of cherries, and 11,200 oranges before the market closed at 7 p. m.

So said James Robinson, executive secretary of the Southern California Dental association.

Robinson also made the observation: "Children are literally taking sugar baths and destroying their teeth in doing so." He advocated removal of candy vending machines in school and theaters.

Scout Camp Visited By Kiwanis Group

Pottstown's Kiwanis club paid a visit to 400 Boy Scouts at Camp Delmont, near Summerville, last night.

Instead of holding their usual meeting, the Kiwanians ate their evening meal with the Scouts in the camp dining hall and spent the rest of the evening touring the camp.

Led by John Fraser, chairman of the program committee, and Scout officials, the club members viewed the swimming pool and the adjacent lake on which the campers practice boating.

Then they crossed the wooden bridge that spans the lake and watched rifle, fly-casting and archery practice in the "old area" of the camp.

During the dinner the club was entertained by a program of stunts presented by the Scouts.

On Tuesday night the club will tour the new plant of the Doehler-Jarvis division.

Bank Doors Wide Open; Criminals Miss Chance

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Do bank robbers take weekend vacations?

The doors to the Oklahoma City Stockyards bank were unlocked for two days and nights—part of the time wide open—and not a soul entered and nothing was missing.

Trent explained the unlocked door this way: "A strong wind blew it open."

ROK Army, Rain, Roaring Big Guns Checks Reds 20-Mile Front Offensive

SEOUL, Wednesday, July 15 (AP)—Rain, ROKs and roaring big guns checked the raging Chinese offensive on the Korean East-Central front today after it had smashed miles inside Allied territory.

By 11 a. m. (10 p. m. Pottstown time Tuesday) it was apparent at US Eighth Army headquarters that the Communist drive on the 20-mile sector had stalled—at least for the moment.

Two inches of steady rain yesterday and last night, a sturdy defense by four Republic of Korea (ROK) divisions and a curtain of Allied artillery fire had up to that time prevented a breakthrough in the Reds' biggest attack since May, 1951.

AP Correspondent Forrest Edwards reported from the front that the Chinese apparently did not press their attack during the night.

THE US FIFTH Air Force said 38 B26 twin-engined bombers blasted the Communist attackers during the night with 190,000 pounds of explosives.

The thing in the world I am most afraid of is fear, and with good reason; that passion alone, in the trouble of it, exceeding all other accidents.

Council Decision Important

TANGLES in a mesh of zoning, dog and airport problems borough council wisely postponed till next Monday disposition of a proposal to install water meters in borough homes.

At that time Albright and Friel, Philadelphia engineering firm which has made an exhaustive study of the borough's water problems, will submit its recommendations and the reasons behind them.

These experts will be able to give doubting councilmen well qualified information on engineers' studies to relieve the annual lack of water pressure in Pottstown's North End.

Two "helpful" suggestions have been made. One is to install meters in every borough home served with water with the hope that the frugality of the average Pottsonian will cut down appreciably on water consumption and thus preserve pressure for others.

The other recommendation is the construction of a huge water supply tank on the highest elevation in the borough. This, its proponents say, will provide enough water and generate enough pressure to keep every lawn green and everybody happy.

Council President William H. Reifsnnyder, in discussing his call for a special session next Monday night, bewailed the fact that only about half the borough councilmen show up for these special get-togethers.

"It's not right for 50 percent of you to legislate for the other 50 percent."

In this he was perfectly correct. Councilmen have taken upon themselves the responsibility of representing their constituents at borough hall. It is up to these councilmen to fulfill their obligations and not betray the trust conferred upon them by election.

If the councilman's own business was at all that was at stake, it's within his discretion to play hooky and go fishing. But it is not fair of him to forget the people who entrusted him with their representation and not show up at official functions.

Next Monday's council meeting is an important one. And it is important that every councilman cast aside whatever other obligations he has and attend council meeting.

Water is everybody's concern. Councilmen should realize it and delay no longer arriving at a solution to end a nasty water shortage situation which has not only plagued Pottstown housewives but produced a highly unsanitary condition.

Meanwhile, citizens should get in immediate touch with their councilmen, tell them how they feel on this important subject and urge attendance at next Monday's meeting.

Short Cut to the Graveyard

ANYBODY who is seriously thinking of doing away with his life will get a great deal of help from a booklet issued by the bureau of Highway Safety at Harrisburg and entitled, "Motor Vehicle Traffic Fatalities."

In this book are various methods of life extermination which have been conclusively proven by tests on Pennsylvania highways. What's more the only accessory you need is an automobile, which everybody has anyhow; you don't have to go to the trouble of saving up sleeping pills or buying arsenic via a phony prescription. Then too you eliminate all doubt which razor slashes and hangings—somebody might cut you down before you're dead—involve.

During the month of May Pennsylvania motorists successfully killed themselves by:

- Going around curves too fast
- Not looking for a train
- Going through a stop sign
- Daring at the wheel
- One too many drinks
- Making a right turn from the middle of an intersection
- Skidding on wet pavement into tree
- Not closing car door securely
- Driving on wrong side of highway at crest of hill

Well, there are a few helpful samples. Any one of them is a sure short cut to the graveyard. Better still, insist on your right of way. Then let us know what method you found successful. We'll send flowers to your funeral in appreciation that another nitwit is no longer driving a car.

PUNKIN CORNERS, July 14.

Dear Sir 'n' Brother:
Wal, I see whar the garbage collector is bein' told to put the lids on the cans after he dumps 'em. Those city folks are lucky to get their lids back at all.

I see an Ohio girl won herself $100 by walkin' five miles a day for 30 days. Wal, at present shoe prices she probably lost some money on that deal. That musta been a sole-wearing experience.

'N' I see whar the auto makers say that the automobiles of the future will be "perfect dreams." Wal, that's all right with me—anything to take the nightmares outta Sunday traffic.

Problems of Clergymen; Shopping Is Baffling

Clergymen's Troubles

To the Editor: It must be tough to be a Protestant clergyman in these topsy-turvy times.

They not only have to put up with casual critics in and out of the church—they also have to turn the other cheek to political mudslingers from both the right and left sides of the road.

On the right are the Senator McCarthys who accuse them of working for the Communist front, being dupes of the Kremlin, fellow travelers and so on down the list of unproven accusations.

On the other side are the Communists, who say our pastors are employed by the capitalists to preach acceptance of things as they are, with heaven as a reward for present hardships.

Personally I don't believe either side. The truth probably is that the preachers don't follow any political line—only the Bible line.

That's why the politicians hate the preachers. They love darkness, and they don't want any preacher to lead the people out into the light.

Pottstown TRUTH SEEKER

Clerks vs. Shoppers

To the Editor: Along with a lot of other things these days, shopping is most confusing. With no one wearing hats, you cannot tell the clerks from the shoppers. And it is a bit embarrassing to ask a man where the underwear section is only to be told he is waiting for his wife.

Why not have the store clerks wear hats from May 15 to September 15? Except, of course, on rainy days in the Summer when they should also not wear hats.

Build Slower Cars

To the Editor: Why are we allowed to buy cars with speeds of 100 miles per hour when the law says we can't drive over 50? It seems to me instead of raising such a hue and cry to slow down that it is up to you and me to pass a law that car manufacturers limit their cars to 50 miles per hour.

Everytime I read where several have been killed on the highways where someone was going 75 I feel somehow to blame. We wouldn't think of giving a gun to anyone mentally weak, but any half-wit can drive a car.

That Hearty Scratch

To the Editor: Between fog machines mounted on jeeps and clouds of spray turned loose by airplanes, I see we're really declared mechanized war on the mosquitoes.

With this all-out blitzkrieg, I'm afraid these buzzing little pests will become as extinct as the dodo bird.

Generally, I guess it's a good thing. Pottsmans of future generations will suffer over less by this, though.

They'll never know the deep-down satisfaction that comes right after giving a king-size mosquito bite a hearty scratching.

Favors Lids On Cans

To the Editor: In regard to what I read in The Mercury about the tops being left off garbage cans after collection, I should like to agree with the councilman who said it was not a good idea.

Frequently, when I take the trash and garbage out, I find the tops off both cans and a couple of inches of water in the bottom of them. In the first place, this is not healthful—since bacteria and so forth breed best in damp or wet places.

In the second place, I think it is easier for the collector to stoop over and put back the tops than it is for me to stoop over and empty the can.

WASHINGTON

Ike Urged to Ask Halt Of World Colonization

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, July 14 — President Eisenhower has had to listen to a wealth of sharp advice recently to the effect that he must assume more positive and independent leadership in the worldwide struggle against Russia, even though he offend Britain and France by insisting that they abandon colonial rule throughout the universe.

American dollars, material assistance and military reinforcement alone, he has been warned, will not buy friends in the Far East, Asia and the Middle East, now the most sensitive fronts in the cold war. Mutual Security funds will simply "go down a rat hole," unless they are backed by the spirit which inspired the American revolution of 1776.

It is not communism so much as a natural desire for freedom and independence, according to this viewpoint, that inspires the struggling peoples of Indo-China, Iran, Egypt, North Africa, the Arab states and other backward lands.

In short, Eisenhower has been urged to demand that England and France renounce all claims to political and economic control where they still exercise it, and free their colonies and protectorates for self-development. Ike has shown intense interest in the proposal.

DIRKSEN REPORT: Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, a Midwest conservative and a Taft supporter at Chicago, recently discussed this grave problem with Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles after visiting Japan, Korea, Formosa and Southeast Asia.

The Dirksen report has assumed even greater significance against the violent background of the rebellion against Moscow's brutal colonial rule in the satellite states.

In an extremely dramatic recital, Dirksen reports that the French are making no headway in Indo-China against Ho Chi-minh's 300,000 guerrillas, even with our annual contribution of $500,000,000. Despite 88 years of colonialism, the natives are not reconciled to outside domination.

"The French own the country by day," says Dirksen. "and the rebel forces own it by night. When we were at Saigon, which the French have made into a miniature Paris, it was a novelty to see a number of guards armed with shotguns around the home of the Charge D' Affaires, so that we would not be shot while we were eating dinner."

PERSASION FAVORED: Two days before the Fourth of July, appropriately enough, Dirksen placed his plea before the President and Secretary of State at the White House. He said:

"It seems to me that, if we are going to hand over another $400,000,000, in all good conscience and in the name of the sacred tradition of America, as we place the 17th candle on our anniversary cake, why can we not declare publicly that there is a target date for independence for a constitution and for freedom?"

"Is not that what we are fighting for? Is not that the ideal and the objective of the free world?"

The Dirksen stipulations, as well as other amendments prodding the British and French on this question, would have commanded a Senate majority save for White House suggestions that the problem should be handled through quiet diplomatic persuasion rather than Congressional pressure.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

BUD, IS a husky pointer dog, with brown markings on his white coat.

"If anybody would offer me $1000 for Bud, I wouldn't take it!" said Mrs. Crane's father, now aged 90.

Grandpa Miller, as we usually call him, celebrated his 90th birthday last November 19. He lives on our farm in Indiana, with Bud as his only companion.

Mrs. Crane and I drove down there for his birthday party. It was a gala event. Bert Boggs, publisher of the local weekly newspaper, came out for the cake-cutting ceremony and brought his vivacious young wife.

Mr. Boggs took a number of pictures of Grandpa for his newspaper but we always saw to it that Bud was included. For Bud is Grandpa's pride and joy.

BUT THE WEEK before Christmas, Grandpa took very sick. He was bed-fast. He couldn't hold food in his stomach. He was also irrational.

So one of my relatives telephoned us in Chicago that we better come down, for Grandpa might not live.

Mrs. Crane and I drove down and found Grandpa in pretty bad shape. Normally, a man of 90 in his condition would not pull through.

But I knew Grandpa had a rugged constitution. And he was still sufficiently conscious at times to demand that Bud sleep on his bed beside him.

Meanwhile I used our official drugs to combat his medical trouble, but realized that Bud was probably as influential on Grandpa's mind as sulfa and penicillin were on the microbes invading his system.

When Mrs. Crane would feed Grandpa, as we had him propped up in his bed, Bud always lay beside him with his front paws across Grandpa's thighs.

And Grandpa would stop to feed Bud a bite now and then. In fact, Grandpa would demand that Bud sit up and "speak" before he got a bite of toast. So Bud dutifully sat up and barked to earn his tidbit.

NOW IT MIGHT seem very unhygienic to let a big dog occupy a sick bed beside its master. And it is true that Bud's short white hairs were all over the top coverlet.

But Bud's effect on Grandpa's peace of mind more than offset any dirt or germs which he brought into the sick room.

Moreover, he stimulated Grandpa mentally. And mental stimulation caused aged persons to perk up so their glands function better. Then their appetite improves and they eat better.

I don't want to minimize for one instant the value of the sulfa tablets and penicillin and iron that I gave him, but Bud deserves equal credit.

Snappiness Counts . . . Under The Wire . . .

★ CONSOLATION FOR ELKS — The drill team of Pottstown Elks Lodge, which won the national lodge championship in 1952, got a little consolation at this year's convention in St. Louis, Mo., after it finished fourth behind Charleston, W. Va., Lancaster and Milwaukee, Wis. At the end of the convention, when it was time for the new grand exalted ruler to be escorted to the throne, it was the Pottstown drill team that was given the honor. First-place Charleston was passed over because its highly informal uniforms (which included red shirts with white dots, and straw hats) seemed out of tune with the dignity of the event. The grand exalted ruler requested that Pottstown get the nod because of its snappy, military-like uniforms and the impressiveness of its drills. Incidentally, some members of the local team weren't what you could call happy at the results of the judging, but no formal protest is being planned.

Just under the wire will be Mrs. Roy Thompson, 622 Chestnut street, who will be flying to Germany with her son, Robert, to join her husband, a sergeant first class in Kaiserslautern. The son will be 6 months old Aug. 5. They're leaving July 21. This won't be the first time Sergeant Thompson has seen his son. The father was home on leave when he was born. ★ GOOD SAMARITAN—When the Rev. Calvin Monroe, 533 Lincoln avenue, came driving down West street Bill Sunday night he saw little five-year-old Donald Thomas fall from his bicycle. Rev. Monroe was quick in stopping his car and ran to assist the fallen boy, who lay on the street injured. So concerned was the reverend that he accompanied the youngster to the hospital, and later took his bicycle to police headquarters where the boy's parents could claim it. He then went back to the hospital to check further. When he finally talked to The Mercury he said, "Thank God, the boy wasn't hurt worse."

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN, M.D.

WITH THE first pang of pain in the chest, most people immediately fear they are the victims of heart disease. Though this may be true, there are many other causes of chest discomfort.

Chest pain resulting from work or exertion is not always due to a difficulty of the heart. It may be due to a disturbance of the pleura, which is the lining of the lungs, or a disturbance of the chest wall, shoulder or arm.

After all, all the organs are used much with exertion and could logically cause the chest pain.

When the pain is due to a heart disturbance, nitroglycerin will usually eliminate the pain.

If the pain is due to a disturbance in the chest wall, the pressure of the front and back of the chest toward each other might reproduce the pain. Shoving the patient what is the cause of his pain. Moving the arms or chest in all directions may also reproduce pain if it is not of a heart origin.

Sometimes the stomach is overfilled with air and may be the cause for chest pain similar to heart pain.

The physician must resort to filling the stomach with gas by means of a tube in order to reproduce the pain and show the patient that the stomach is the cause for the chest discomfort, and not the heart. The large intestine may also be at fault in many instances.

One of the most frequent causes for chest pain is severe worry or anxiety. This will cause the person to breathe faster, which may produce chest pressure.

Proposal to Place 'In God We Trust' On Mail Recalls Long Coin Struggle

By GEORGE SMEDAL
(Written Especially for Central Press and The Mercury)

A BILL has been introduced in Congress to authorize use of the motto, "In God We Trust," on postal cancellations. The motto has appeared on all United States coins since 1864, but never on postage.

Rep. Louis C. Rabaut of Michigan has appealed to the House for approval of the bill. He points out that American mail would go all over the world bearing the motto and would bring "new hope to the oppressed people behind the Iron Curtain."

The Michigan lawmaker also points out that present laws authorize the use of slogan cancellations for various public events, but are used only for brief periods.

His bill would authorize the postmaster general to issue cancelling stamps and dies with the motto as the standard cancellation for all classes of mail.

This bill recalls the long fight to put "In God We Trust" on United States coins. And it was a Rev. Mr. Watkinson who started it. He brooded over the low ebb of Union fortunes after Fort Sumter and Bull Run. He deplored the godlessness of a nation ready seven months in the Civil war.

ONE CHEERLESS day in November of 1861 he sat down at the antique desk in his rectory and wrote a letter of singular eloquence to the secretary of the treasury.

"One fact touching our currency has hitherto been seriously overlooked," he wrote.

"I mean the recognition of the Almighty God in form on our coins. What if our Republic were shattered beyond recognition? Would not the antiquaries of succeeding centuries rightly reason from our past that we were a heathen nation?"

Proposing a motto on the theme of "God, Liberty, Law," he concluded: "This would relieve us of the ignominy of heathenism. This would place us openly under the Divine protection we have personally claimed. From my heart I have felt national shame in disowning God as not the least of our present national disasters."

Secretary of the Treasury Salmon P. Chase, one of Lincoln's ablest Cabinet members and later chief justice of the United States though deep in problems of financing the war, read this letter from the Reverend Watkinson and promptly recognized the merit of his plea.

WITHIN A WEEK Chase had dispatched this note to James Pollock, director of the Philadelphia Mint:

"No nation can be strong except in the strength of God, or safe except in His defense. The trust of our people in God should be declared on our national coins. You will therefore cause a device to be prepared without unnecessary delay with a motto expressing in the fewest and tersest words possible this national recognition."

Pollock acted quickly on the secretary's order. Before the year was ended a bronze pattern for a $10 gold piece with the motto, "God, Our Trust," had been submitted. Shortly thereafter, "Our Country, Our God," was suggested.

However, it was not until 1864 that "In God We Trust" first appeared on a United States coin, a two-cent piece. Chase himself proposed this inscription.

Today this motto has the ring of timelessness, as though it had been given on tablets of stone to the Founding Fathers of a republic, conceived in a deep religious spirit.

YET, UNTIL 1864 our country's moneys bore only practical and mundane slogans, such as the terse injunction, "Mind Your Business."

The five-cent piece carried the motto from 1865 to 1883 and after a long lapse resumed it in 1938.

Most American coins in circulation today bear the inscription "In God We Trust." Silver dollars, until 1916 the half dollars and quarters were minted with the motto in 1866 and have carried it ever since.

Two-cent piece, minted in 1864, was first U. S. coin to bear the now widely-used "In God We Trust" motto. These are enlarged photographs.

BUILT-IN STORAGE—Built-in storage units are today's answer to the need for more put-away space in homes. Photo shows portion of combination fir plywood storage wall built from plans issued by west coast plywood manufacturers. Plans are available at retail lumber yards throughout the country.

Built-In Storage Units Answer Need Of Housewife for More Storage Space

Is your home good enough? The housing experts say there is a 50-50 chance it isn't. And most of them agree that the most common failing of many new homes and most older homes is inadequate or inconvenient storage space.

That's not hard to demonstrate. A leading building industry trade journal reports that a housewife's number one need today is built-in storage area. There are 47,000,000 dwelling units in this country, says another national publication, and half or more of them are obsolete judged by today's design standards.

In an older home there are often plenty of cubic feet in an attic or basement but this area is inefficient, old-fashioned storage. Even the standard closet is out of date. All you can do there is hang clothes and stack things on the floor.

WHAT'S MORE, today's new house has been getting smaller and that adds to the problem of space. In 1940, most houses had at least five rooms. Today, the average new house has four rooms and there are 12 million more children under 14 jammed into the nation's housing plant than there were then.

Any way you look at it, most people need more places and better places to put things. Designers agree that large house or small, the most logical solution is built-in storage. This is the most outstanding trend underlying the uncluttered "feel" of a well-planned, modern home.

This kind of storage ranges from carefully planned kitchen cabinets to an entire storage wall in the living room. The primary construction material is fir plywood.

Even where a more exotic wood is used for facing surfaces, fir plywood is the universal material for the structural parts.

Built-ins multiply living space in a small home, efficiently substituting for old-fashioned bureaus, buffets, side-boards and cabinet furniture. In a larger home, built-ins account for a substantial degree of livability and comfort.

TODAY'S MOST popular new homes are marked by the trend in modern design to open-planning—the new "freedom of living"—obtained with partial walls, free-standing island storage units and storage wall partitions.

In an older home, greater livability can be achieved through better organization of existing storage space and addition of strategically located, compact built-in storage units. Usually these so-called built-ins are placed against existing walls.

The answer in such homes to modernization or remodeling problems is often the installation of the right built-in conveniences. It's a matter of getting the old house to work for you instead of against you.

When built-in storage is a permanent improvement in the house, financing is easy through FHA. Improvements up to $3500 can be repaid over a three-year period

Ministers Discussion May Clear Way for Princess' Marriage

LONDON, July 14 (P)—Commonwealth prime ministers recently held informal talks which may clear one obstacle to a possible marriage between Princess Margaret and a commoner.

A government source revealed today the prime ministers discussed the question of the regency while together in London for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II the past month.

The 22-year-old Princess under present law would become regent if her sister died or became unable to perform her duties before Prince Charles, heir to the throne, reached 18.

The government source refused to confirm or deny whether Princess Margaret's name had been mentioned at these talks, but added:

"You can draw your own conclusions."

IF THE PRINCESS were relieved of her regency responsibilities, one big barrier to a possible marriage to RAF group Capt. Peter Townsend would be removed.

The war hero is reported to be the man of her choice.

Another obstacle — the fact Townsend has divorced his wife — would still remain. The Church of England, of which the monarch is titular head, frowns on divorce.

But that might not loom quite so large if the Princess were no longer holding a position so near the throne.

and you don't need a down payment.

183 Cities Are Promised Improved Mail Service

WASHINGTON, July 14 (P)—Postmaster General Summerfield said tonight 183 major cities will get improved mail service, beginning Monday.

This will be brought about through extended window service and later collection of mails, he said.

In general, windows will be kept open a half hour longer, but there will be variations in some cities. Mail collections will be as much as 2 1/2 hours later.

Twenty-nine major cities already have longer window service and later collections.

'International Volunteers' May See Action If War in Korea Continues

By F. K. WU
(Central Press Correspondent)
HONG KONG, July 14 — Some 100,000 "international volunteers" drawn from Soviet Russia and the satellite countries and lurking in Manchuria will go into action in Korea if and when the "Chinese People Volunteers" are driven northward of United Nations troops.

This arrangement was agreed upon in Moscow between Premier Josef Stalin and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai of the Peiping regime and ranking members of the Kremlin in early September.

This agreement was reached according to a Peiping report, after Chou En-lai had complained about the heavy Chinese losses in men and equipment while fighting the American and other UN forces.

Premier Josef Stalin then promised to move in his "international brigades" which have been deployed in Siberia and Manchuria since the past Summer.

AT THE same time the "Chinese People Volunteers" have been well trained and equipped during the prolonged armistice negotiations. But to assure victory Moscow calmed Peiping by undertaking to move up the European puppet units as reinforcements in the event of a UN offensive. The "international volunteers" are reported to be seasoned units equipped with the latest weapons, although their morale is not high.

In any event, the Peiping report added that Soviet Russia will back up Communist China in the present war in Korea in order to achieve Moscow-Peiping objectives against the western democracies in general and the United States in particular. At the same time, the Peiping regime is ordered to gear up its war efforts "in preparation for further liberation of countries in Southeast Asia."

One of these objectives is the Chinese military aid to the Communist-led Vietnam insurgents in French Indo-China as ordered by Moscow.

The amount of military supplies has stepped up to about 1500 tons to 2000 tons a month, thereby enabling the Vietnamese troops to start an offensive since mid-October. About 50,000 to 80,000 Chinese Communist troops are scattered in northern Indo-China but will not go into action until the Autumn offensive has gained sufficient ground or when the French Union troops and their Vietnamese allies launch a counter-offensive.

The war in Korea and the steady stream of supplies to the Vietnamese forces are being borne out by the vast sums extorted from the Chinese people in the name of anti-corruption drive which yielded an equivalent of about US$2 billion.

A local banking source estimated that an equivalent of about US$90 million have been remitted to Hong Kong for the purchase of various goods and other disbursements. To foot at least a part of the bill for the world liberation movement as announced recently in Moscow Peiping is mapping out fresh taxation schemes. Students of Chinese public finance here said that the Chinese sponge is not squeezed quite dry by the anti-corruption extortion racket of the past year and that it is possible to force out a few more drops from the unwilling and greatly impoverished people.

Continuous exploitation of the people in the name of defending the country against the "American aggressors" at China's gateway, Korea, has resulted in waves of resentment against the Peiping regime, which is, however, determined to ride roughshod in the mercy game of get-rich-quick. It is felt here that continuous drawing of wealth from the people without giving them a chance to recover has alienated their loyalty and support.

Also large sums of money are required for the development of the vast and semi-barren north-west as the base of a third world war.

Lanchow in Kansu province is to be the industrial and communication center and possibly the war-time capital.

The Lanchow railway from Haichow on the coast in North Kiangsu is to be extended from Paotchi in Kansu right up to the provincial capital of Lanchow. From Lanchow the railroad will be built westward to Tihua, provincial capital of Sinkiang, covering a distance of some 700 miles over rugged and mountainous tracks.

Other proposed railroads will be built from Lanchow to Paotou in Suiyuan province in the north sea Ninghsia province. Paotou has been the terminus of the Peiping-Suiyuan railway which is linked with the Siberian railway.

In brief, the northwest will be connected by railway with the USSR via Sinkiang and Manchuria. Lanchow is also to be connected in a southern direction with Chengtu, important provincial capital of Szechuan, and eventually with Kwangsi province and the borders of Indo-China.

Chinese press reports quoted Radio Moscow as announcing a five-year industrial plan for China, although no details were given. It is expected by observers here that iron and steel works, machine shops, arsenals, cotton mills will be set up in the northwestern provinces to turn out strategic goods in support of Soviet policy vis-a-vis the western democracies.

However, it does not necessarily mean that there will be no general war until after the next four or five years in the opinion of the observers, as all depends on how well Soviet China intrigue and plans are met by the democratic camp.

'King of Jewel Thieves' Charged With Larceny

MIAMI, Fla., July 14 (P)—Harry Sitamore, 38, called "king of the jewel thieves" before he was caught in a $142,000 theft at Miami beach in 1933, was arrested today on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny.

Bond was set at $1000 and he was released before authorities realized who he was. He had been granted a pardon in 1949 after serving 12 years of a 40 year sentence at Florida State prison.

Detective R. C. Groner said Sitamore and Jack Barton were captured in the home of a retired Miami factory operator.

500,000 See Parade Staged by Shriners In Mid-Manhattan

NEW YORK, July 14 (P)—Twenty-five thousand fun-bent Shriners took over Upper Fifth Avenue today to show half a million parade-wise New Yorkers how a parade should go.

For six hours they trolicked over a two-mile route, mainly along the edge of Central park.

Colorful costumes, blaring horns, trick vehicles, flashing scimitars—all spilled into the heavy noontime traffic of mid-Manhattan's main thoroughfares, where additional tens of thousands stopped to watch in smiling good humor.

The brilliant, multi-colored spectacle was a feature of the 79th annual convention of the ancient Arabic order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, a Masonic organization.

OSTENSIBLY TODAY'S parade was in honor of the shrine's retiring imperial potentate, Harvey A. Beffa, St. Louis.

There's to be another along the same route Thursday night in honor of the new officers. It's been billed as the more colorful of the two shows.

How there could be much color left after today is hard to see. A hundred thousand Shriners and their families are in town for a week of festivities that began yesterday.

Members of 68 of the Shrine's 166 temples took part in today's event.

Behind barriers along the route was a police-estimated throng of some 500,000 generally well-behaved persons, liberally sprinkled with red-fuzzed Shriners who chose the sidelines on this warm, sunny day.

Man Clears Mystery Of Stolen Bulbs

PROVO, Utah, (P)—Sterling Ercanbrack planted a half bushel of tulip bulbs in his garden the past Fall.

Farmer Owns 30 Cows, Says One Worth $300

FARMERSBURG, Ind., July 14 (P)—Farmer Jack Hayden needs the answer to a $300 question — which of his 30 cows ate the greens without chlorophyll?

Hayden's wallet slipped out of his pocket as he fed the cows Tuesday. When he found it an hour later in the big manger, 15 crisp green 29s were missing.

A $700 check from the sale of some pigs was still in it, though. The cow apparently considered it indigestible as well as non-negotiable.

Hayden would slaughter the culprit to get his money back—but which one?

It is believed that a furnace as high as a 10-story building used to treat aluminum in a Meadville, Pa. plant (Westinghouse) is the world's tallest.

Hot fat dripping into an electric range oven at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Sackett, 306 New street, Royersford RD 1, caused a fire scare yesterday afternoon shortly after 4:30 o'clock.

A neighbor telephoned a fire alarm when smoke poured from the windows as Mrs. Sackett was preparing the evening meal. When the current was turned off the fire was over.

Navy Calls Off Search in Mid-Pacific As Transport Returns With 14 Bodies

HONOLULU, July 4 (AP)—Searchers said today that a violent explosion aboard a Transocean liner four-engined plane apparently plunged its 58 occupants to death without warning Saturday night 350 miles east of Wake island in Pacific waters teeming with sharks.

The cause of the crash was believed to be an explosion," radioed that this was an error. The new report said the bodies "showed proceeding to Guam with 14 mangled bodies aboard.

"No possible chance to find survivors alive."

The Barrett's crew deduced the explosion from such evidence as

None of the bodies recovered wore a life jacket. The bodies and debris were spread over a wide area. Only one of the plane's five life rafts was inflated. Some were torn into remnants.

Twelve of the bodies were stripped of clothing. The clothing of the other two was in shreds.

BIG 3 MINISTERS PLAN TO MEET WITH MOLOTOV

Announce Joint Decision At End of Five-Day Conference

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France, in a major move to ease East-West tensions, tonight proposed a meeting with Russia's foreign minister in the early Autumn.

They proposed that the Big Four foreign ministers arrange nation-wide elections in divided Germany set up a single government there and conclude an Austrian peace settlement.

This joint decision was announced in a formal communique summing up the results of a five day conference by the Big Three Western foreign ministers.

American officials said written invitations would be sent to Moscow within two or three days suggesting that the conference be held in late September or October.

President Eisenhower, they indicated, might agree afterward to meet with Russia's Premier Georgi Malenkov, and British and French leaders if the foreign ministers first succeeded in settling the German and Austrian problems.

A possible Big Three meeting between Eisenhower and Britain's Winston Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel apparently was sidetracked for the time being as a result of the call for a conference with Russia's V. M. Molotov.

Ike Unable to Budge McCarran on Figure For Immigration Bill

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—A conference with President Eisenhower today failed to swing Senator McCarran (D-Nev) over to the Administration bill to permit 240,000 "extra quota" immigrants to enter the United States.

McCarran told newsmen he was standing pat on his insistence that the figure be cut to 124,000, including 4000 orphans.

Senator Watkins (R-Utah), a backer of the Administration bill, who accompanied McCarran to the White House, hinted at a possible compromise to get the legislation enacted before Congress quits for the Summer around July 31.

Watkins, chairman of a Senate Immigration subcommittee, said if it proves impossible to win support for the administration bill, he is thinking of going ahead "with the best kind of bill I can get."

Watkins and McCarran conferred with Eisenhower for 30 minutes after it appeared they were poles apart on the number of Iron Curtain refugees and others that should be allowed to come to this country in the next two years.

Questioned by newsmen, Watkins said Eisenhower had made no request whatever regarding the bill in the discussion with himself and McCarran.

CIA Probe Discussed by McCarthy

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—that his subcommittee Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) said today the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) has agreed to try to work out a formula under which its employees may be questioned by the Senate Investigations subcommittee without impeding security.

McCarthy issued a statement after he and two other members of his subcommittee had a conference with Allen Dulles, CIA director. Dulles told newsmen the statement had his approval.

McCarthy said the subcommittee will turn over to the CIA all information it has in regard to William P. Bundy, top CIA official, and "immediately there after the agency will reevaluate Mr. Bundy's security status."

"He said there was no final decision as to whether Bundy will be called as a witness."

McCarthy told the Senate the past week that Bundy, a son-in-law of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, had contributed $400 to CIA's far-flung intelligence activity. The Alger Hiss defense fund but ties may be impaired.

RED PROTESTS GI Back From Lost Command Post CLOUD LATEST TRUCE MEETING

Special Envoy Confident Of Armistice Agreement

PANMUNJOM, Wednesday, July 15 (AP)—Allied and Communist truce delegates met again today for 21 minutes and recessed until tomorrow without indication they were any closer to a cease-fire in Korea.

Official secrecy shrouded developments inside the conference hut, but apparently the negotiations on the all-but-signed armistice still were snagged on South Korea's role after a truce.

The session began at 11 a. m. (10 p. m. Pottstown time Tuesday) and recessed at 11:21 a. m. until 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Truce prospects already were clouded by Communist protests, demands and the big Chinese onslaught on the East-Central front. But President Eisenhower's special envoy expressed confidence that the South Korean roadblock to an armistice agreement had been cleared.

GI Back From Lost Command Post CRAWLS Two Miles Under Heavy Fire

CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Wednesday, July 15 (AP)—A pale, trembling American came back from a lost command post today.

The mark of a man who might have been killed but was not stood out clearly upon him.

His hands shook as he smoked his cigarette. His face was white. His arms and legs were bleeding, and his green fatigue uniform was in shreds.

Pfc. Charles E. Duke, 26 of Ninketan, Okla., chose to crawl two miles through a field of exploding shells rather than surrender.

BUGLES BLEW outside the regimental post at 3:20 a. m. and Chinese—hundreds of them—swarmed into the surrounded area. They entered the command post under the eerie light of green flares.

"They looked like ghosts in the light," Duke said.

"Then the flares died out and all hell broke loose. You couldn't tell Chinese from Koreans; everyone was shooting at everyone else."

Duke was a radio operator in the military advisory group with a South Korean regiment. Six Americans were in the command post when the Chinese overran it. Only "no go" out.

"Just after the Chinese blew their whistles and bugles," Duke said, "the major (Joseph Stevenson of Henderson, Ky.) called me and told me to burn the equipment."

"I didn't have time. I picked up the radio and banged it down until it broke."

MAJOR STEVENSON was the other American who escaped the encirclement, but Duke did not meet him after the phone call.

Duke said, "I ran for the weeds near the command post and found three other Americans. One made a break for it but we haven't heard from him."

"The other two were thinking about surrendering."

"I told them that would be suicide. The Chinese don't like KMAG (Korean Military Advisory group)."

"About dawn I began crawling toward our positions. I didn't realize how far away our men had gone. It seemed like it took five hours. It must have been about two hours."

"Chinese walked four or five feet from me when I started. I didn't see one after that. I guess they didn't want to get under their own artillery. It was pitch dark all the way."

"I kept wondering what my wife would say when I showed up on the missing list," he said. "I was afraid they wouldn't find my body if I got hit."

"It was raining hard," he said, "but with all that water coming down I was so thirsty I couldn't spit."

Duke found it hard to recollect just what happened at the command post when it was overrun. "It all happened so fast," he said. "I remember a lot of shooting. I saw bodies and I wouldn't have given ten cents for my life."

NIXON WORKS HARD AT VP JOB

Position Once Slated As Being Easy Task

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—If Richard M. Nixon is right in the way he sizes up his work, he has succeeded in something no one else has done in the history of the Republic.

For Nixon says he has made a full-time job of the vice presidency.

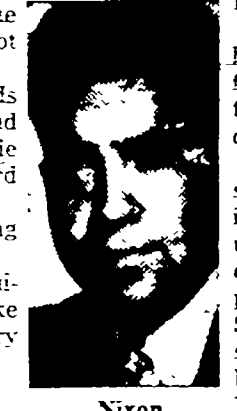

Under the Constitution, the VP is left practically unemployed. His only chore is to preside over the Senate. From the start what should be the nation's No. 2 job often has been looked upon as something of a joke.

Nixon says he spends only 20 percent of his time presiding over the Senate. The rest of the time, he says, is spent as a smoother-outer between President Eisenhower and Congress and the Administration and various agencies.

"I'M FAR BUSIER," Nixon said, "than when I served in the House and when I was a senator from California."

Oddly, the job was low rated even before it definitely was established.

Yet, if the job isn't important, the man who fills it certainly is. Seven Presidents have succeeded to the presidency because of the death of Presidents.

Superior Court Upholds Telephone Rate Increase

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (AP)—A 21-million dollar rate increase granted the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania by the Public Utility commission was upheld today by the Superior court.

The increase was granted the past December and the new rates were placed in effect. Among the provisions of the order was one boosting the cost of pay station local calls to 10 cents.

The PUC order granting the rate increases brought an appeal to the Superior court by the cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and the Pennsylvania CIO council.

It was alleged that the commission erred in its findings relating to accrued depreciation and reproduction cost of the company's equipment.

DAN JUNE DENNIS DAILEY-HAVER-DAY

Nuptial High Mass Chanted for Eve Leck and Nickolas Tynio Rites

Nuptial high mass was chanted to solemnize the morning wedding of Eve Leck, 32 West Main street, South Pottstown, and Nicholas Tynio, Mahanoy City.

Andrew Leck, 10 River road, South Pottstown, and the late Mrs. Leck, are the parents of the bride.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tynio.

Scene of the wedding was St. John's Greek Catholic church in Pottstown.

White gladioli and palms decked the altar, which was lighted with burning candles. A white carpet lined the center aisle for the bride's walk to the altar.

Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. John Taplick, pastor. Mass responses were sung by the church choir, who rendered "Mother at Thy Feet Kneeling" as the bride placed a bouquet at the foot of the Virgin's statue, immediately after the exchange of vows.

The double ring service was used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a period gown of embroidered white silk organza over taffeta.

Its fitted bodice formed a scalloped, deep square illusion neckline, filled with sheer tulle, and leg-of-mutton sleeves, full to the elbows and fitted over the lower arms, forming points at the wrists.

Beneath a molded waistline, the bride's bouffant skirt fell to waltz length above white wedding slippers. A deep V apron of matching organza was draped over its front.

Stiff lace formed the coronet which anchored the bride's finger tip veil of illusion net, made with a rolled edge.

She carried a white prayerbook topped with a pair of purple orchids and marked with long white streamers.

At her throat, the bride clasped a cross, a gift of the groom, and her only other jewelry was a pair of small earrings.

Matron of honor was a sister of the bride, Mrs. Michael Staversky, 32 West Main street, South Pottstown.

She wore a gown of orchid tulle and lace, with a strapless, all lace bodice beneath a cap-sleeved bolero of lace.

Her full tulle skirt, worn over layers of satin, was waltz length and she wore matching lace mitts.

Crowning her head was a large picture hat in matching orchid.

She carried an old fashioned nosegay of pink, yellow and white carnations tied with orchid ribbons.

Andrew Leck Jr., a brother of the bride, was the best man.

Immediately after the service, a wedding breakfast was held in the home of the bride's sister.

Later, the bridal party moved to Lakeside Inn, to receive nearly 100 guests.

Centering the table were bouquets of white carnations and snapdragons and two lighted candles. The three tiered, white frosted wedding cake sported a miniature bride and groom at its top.

Standing in the receiving line the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Paul Davidock of Morea, wore a black print frock with black accessories and a corsage of three carnations.

After the reception the bride and groom left for New York City and a honeymoon in a West Side hotel.

To travel, the bride wore a red cotton skirt with a large black flower applique at its side, and a black shantung blouse cut with a deep V neckline.

Her accessories were in black and she wore her cross and chain and a black velvet hat.

The bride studied at schools in a grocer.

The groom, who attended high school in his home town, works as a grocer.

The nuptials will be at home in the Pottstown shirt factory, 1901 West Center street, Mahanoy City.

Upon their return they will reside at 907 West Chester street, Mahanoy City. She was formerly employed in the Pottstown shirt factory. He works as a grocer.

National League Wins All-Star Game

Stengel Takes Loss Hard; Claims Poor Call on Hit Batter

CINCINNATI, July 14.—Casey Stengel, who doesn't love the National league in July as he does in October, took the American league's 5-1 All-Star defeat quite hard today.

The grizzled New York Yankee manager blamed his latest All-Star defeat, his fourth straight at the hands of the Nationals, on what he termed a poor decision and a strong wind.

"Nobody can tell me that Mathews (Eddie Mathews) was hit by that pitch," he grumbled to reporters in the losers' dressing room. "I saw that pitch clearly from the bench. It never hit him. Reynolds (Pitcher Allie Reynolds) and Berra (catcher Yogi Berra) swear it didn't. But that umpire (Bill McKinley) says it did. I asked him to consult the other umpires but he refused. He said he saw the ball hit the batter and that was that."

The disputed play occurred in the fifth inning. Mathews was awarded first base and later scored the first of the National's two runs that snapped a scoreless game.

Blanked with two hits for eight innings by four National league pitchers, the Americans came to life in the ninth. Opening singles by Ferris Fain and Johnny Mize got righthander Murrey Dickson in a jam but centerfielder Duke Snider, hauled in Larry Doby's towering 400-foot fly in deepest center field.

"THAT BALL Doby hit should have been a home run," snorted Stengel, "but the wind got hold of it and pulled it back. If that ball had gone over the fence, we might have gotten that pitcher out of there."

Stengel paused to catch his breath, then looked up quizzically. "Say, what happened to all those home run hitters of theirs?" he asked. "Everybody's been warning us to back up against the fences against those guys. What happens? We spent the entire afternoon running in to get those singles over the infield. That ball Ashburn (Richie Ashburn) hit still has blood on it."

Casey was referring to Ashburn's single in the fifth that scored Mathews with the National league's first run, a "bleeder" that bounced past the mound, escaped shortstop Chico Carrasquel and skipped merrily into centerfield.

Reynolds the losing pitcher, accepted his defeat philosophically. "I thought I pitched pretty fair today," he said, "but I wasn't throwing as hard as I usually do. I just couldn't seem to get it where I wanted."

ALIE ADMITTED his back, injured in Washington last week, gave him some trouble, but he refused to use that as an alibi.

"What's the use of making excuses," he said. "Their pitching was better than ours. That was the difference."

Al Rosen, Cleveland's slugging third baseman, was asked which of the National league's pitchers impressed him the most.

"All of 'em," he replied. "They're all great."

FORMIDABLE YANKS FAIL TO FRIGHTEN OPPONENT—Eighth members of the New York Yankees were on the American League All-Star squad that was defeated, 5-1, by the National league yesterday afternoon. From left, Coach Jim Turner, Hank Bauer, Johnny Mize, Phil Rizzuto, Johnny Sain, Allie Reynolds, Yogi Berra, Mickey Mantle and Manager Casey Stengel. All took an active part in the game except Sain. Reynolds suffered the loss and Stengel once again failed to overcome the All-Star jinx that has followed him for the past four years.

Dressen Never Worried

Pee Wee Reese Happiest Player in NL Locker Room

CINCINNATI, July 14.—The happiest guy in the entire National league today just had to be Har- old (Pee Wee) Reese.

Reese, the Brooklyn Dodger shortstop who is supposed to be nearing the end of a major league baseball career, had played in seven All-Star games but hadn't had a hit in 13 times at bat.

He missed out in his first two tries today as the National leaguers whipped the American league, 5-1.

He was the "grinningest" man in the room as the victorious National leaguers trotted into the clubhouse.

What made it even better was that Reese's mother was in Cros- ley field to watch her first All-Star game.

The other heroes of the National league victory were winning pitcher Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves and Enos Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals. Spahn had left before the post-game celebration.

CHARLIE DRESSEN, manager of the Dodgers and the pilot of the National leaguers, must have made 25 trips just "round and 'round in the dressing room. He was shaking hands here and there, slapping this player and that and just generally enjoying himself.

How about that ninth inning when the American leaguers had Johnny Mize and Yogi Berra coming up? Was he jittery?

"Naw," said Charlie. "We had a couple of boys down there getting ready."

A few minutes later he remarked about the National league pitching which limited the American leaguers to five hits by saying:

"When you get good pitching, they're tough to hit. I wish I had that kind of pitching all season."

DRESSEN CHUCKLED, too, as he said he noticed Casey Stengel, American league manager, pointing to the right field bleachers when both Mize and Berra came to bat.

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phils, who started the game for the Nationals and held the Americans to one hit in three innings, came in for his share of back-slapping.

Roberts went into the game with only one day of rest. He pitched Sunday.

When he was asked if the lack of rest bothered him, he replied: "Three innings? That's a rest." Reese was the fellow who drew the attention.

When photographers grouped him with other players he cracked, "I haven't had my picture in one of these for a long-n-n-g time."

REese and GUS BELL of the Cincinnati Redlegs had nearby lockers when someone remarked about Bell's failure to get a hit in his first All-Star game. Reese turned to him and said, "I hope it isn't as long as it was for me."

Slaughter took the whole thing in stride. After all, he has been in 10 previous All-Star games.

One of the biggest smiles belonged to Warren Giles, dapper president of the National league.

Jeffrey Quits State

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 14.—Bill Jeffrey today submitted his resignation as soccer coach at the Pennsylvania State college, a post he has held the past 27 years.

Jeffrey, 60, said he will accept a teaching-coaching position at the University of Puerto Rico.

"This job presents a real challenge," said Jeffrey, "and I don't believe I could be happy again if I turned it down."

He has been soccer coach at Penn State since 1926. During that time, his teams won 151 games, tied 23 and lost 22. During a nine-year span, his teams went unbeaten for 63 consecutive games.

PHILLIE HURLERS, REESE PACE 5-1 VICTORY

CINCINNATI, July 14.—Enos Slaughter and Pee Wee Reese, a pair of old hands at All-Star games, led the National league to its expected fourth straight over Casey Stengel's American leaguers today, 5-1, as four pitchers teamed up for a five-hitter.

The muscular men of the National failed to batter down any fever, but they beat the American leaguers to death with a steady patter of singles. Reese's double in the seventh was the only extra base hit of the game, watched by a capacity crowd of 39,845 at Crosley field and millions more on television.

to call on (Capt Ted Williams, the hero of so many All-Star games who was sitting on the bench as an honorary squad member, waiting to be detached from the Marines.

Slaughter, playing his 10th All-Star game at the age of 37, came through with the defensive play of the day, a diving catch on pinch hitter Harvey Kuenn of Detroit in the sixth. Earlier he had walked and scored the second National run in the fifth. Old Country singled, stole second and came home with another run in the seventh and drove in another run with an eighth-inning single.

Reese, hitless in 13 at bats in eight previous All-Star games, broke his slump with a single and the double in the Nationals' 10-hit attack on four American League pitchers.

It was a scoreless battle for four innings until the Nationals climbed on New York's Allie Reynolds in the fifth. Ed Mathews of Milwaukee started it when he was hit on the foot by a pitched ball. This brought Stengel steam from the dugout in protest but Umpire Bill McKinley's ruling stood.

With two gone, Reynolds walked Slaughter. It was the first time either club had two men on base in an inning. Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn, batting for Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, bounced a pinch single into center, scoring Mathews with the first run.

Reese then reached out to punch an outside pitch into right field for a hit that brought Slaughter roaring around third to score.

That was more than enough to win, the way the National pitchers were going. Philadelphia's Robin Roberts, who started, worked three scoreless innings against Chicago's Billy Pierce, each allowing only one hit. Spahn, the eventual winner, didn't give up a hit in two innings.

Curt Simmons, second Philadelphia pitcher used by National Manager Chuck Dressen of Brooklyn, yielded only one hit in two innings. So it was a two-hitter going into the ninth when the Americans broke the shutout with three singles off Pittsburgh's Dickson.

Despite the National's domination of this series since 1950, the American League still holds a 12-8 edge after 20 games. The last American victory was at Brooklyn in 1949.

Stengel's only left handed pitcher, Pierce, breezed past the Nationals like a charm. It was the right-handers who ran into trouble. Reynolds and St. Louis' old Satch Paige gave up two runs each and Cleveland's Mike Garcia was nicked for one.

The big crowd, baking in 85-degree heat, was National League minded, as was to be expected. Two Cincinnati stars, Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell, were in the starting lineups. Dressen drew a round of boos when he removed both in the late innings. Kluszewski for a runner and Bell for pinch hitter Duke Snider.

Kluszewski came through with a single in the sixth, after Stan Musial rapped his second single of the game, but Mathews hit into a double play that got Garcia out of serious trouble.

The (Big Bear) from Cleveland wasn't as fortunate in the seventh, when Slaughter and Reese teamed up for a run. Slaughter, who never seems to run out of energy, singled and slid head first into second for a stolen base under Chico Carrasquel's attempted tag. Reese slammed the ball to left center.

Roberts 2d Hoyt Wilhelm Sports Lowest ERA

NEW YORK, July 14.—Dorothy of the Chicago White Sox, is Knuckeballer Hoyt Wilhelm of the American league's earned run New York Giants stands a good leader with a 2.30 average. He has chance of becoming the first National league pitcher in more than 100 years to win the earned run title in 1953.

Statistics compiled by the Associated Press disclose that Wilhelm has allowed 24 earned runs in 94 innings for a league-leading 2.30 average. His ERA as a rookie last season was 2.43.

The last National league hurler to top the ERA listings for two straight seasons was Buckie Walters, who turned the trick for the Cincinnati Reds in 1929 and 1930.

Wilhelm has worked in 42 of the Giants' 51 games and all of his appearances have been in relief. The 29-year-old bullpen ace has a 3-5 won-loss record which fails to reflect his value to the team.

Lefty Ed Lopat of the New York Yankees trails Dorothy for earned run supremacy with a 2.70 mark, having yielded 50 earned runs in 169 innings. Lopat has the best won-loss percentage in the loop, 3-1 for .750.

Teammate Whitney Ford, another left-hander, holds down third place with a 2.75 ERA. Washington's Frank Shea is fourth at 2.80 and Bob Lemon of Cleveland occupies fifth with 2.84.

YORK, July 14.—Pre-tournament favorites today went into the second round of the Pennsylvania Women's Amateur Golf championship at the York Country club.

Leading the field were defending champion Mrs. Dorothy Germain Porter and Mrs. John Gressler, a former titleholder.

Mrs. Porter, of Llanerch, who set a women's course record yesterday with 74 matched that score today as she eliminated Mrs. J. A. Hayes, Philadelphia, 3 and 2.

Also playing sub-par golf was Mrs. Gessler, Whitmarsh, who topped Miss Joan Wassel, Church Valley, one up.

Miss Betty Fehl, Reading, the third former champion in the field, ousted Mrs. Howard Campbell, of the host York club, 6 and 5.

Two teenage stars remained in the title contention as Miss Ann Rutherford, daughter of the Carlisle CC Pro, outlasted Miss Babbie Benson, Philadelphia area stand-out, 2 and 1.

Mantle injured his leg again, driving, caught near the wall with two on, would have been a home run but for the wind.

In the National Clubhouse, Manager Dressen said: "It just goes to show that good pitching can stop home runs."

"Nothing to it," said Musial. "We had those Philadelphia pitching twins (Roberts and Simmons), in there. All we needed was a run or two and we were in."

THE COMPOSER OF A SONG should be sure of his or her own position before suing for plagiarism. Lawyer Alexander L. Moser tells what happened to the composer of a love ballad who charged that another crooner creation was a dead steal of his melody. It was proved in court that both pieces had been lifted from De Fiedermus classic—and the case, of course, was thrown out of court.

It is Stanley Freeman's notion that if "O Lohengrin" is produced in Moscow, the certain will go up to court a lawsuit young crooner arguing in court, singing through the bars to the "O Lohengrin" a Beautiful Morning.

More is going so common in Texas and in one very popular oil town in particular that they tell the story of a man who was so fat that he had a bill with which to pay for his $10 lunch. He gave the bill to the young woman cashier and then waited impatiently.

Did you forget my change, miss? he finally asked.

"Change?" she asked in all innocence. "What is change?"

JACOB JUSTISS ORDAINED IN SPECIAL RITES

Pastor Is Received
Into Ministry at Pine Forge

ELDER LESTER CONDUCTS SERVICE IN BIG TENT

Jacob Justiss, pastor of the Columbus, and Delaware, Ohio, Seventh-day Adventist churches, was ordained to the gospel ministry for life in a special ceremony in the Big Tent at the Allegheny Camp grounds, Pine Forge, Pa.

The charge was given by Elder Jethro Lester, pastor of the North Jersey district. The ordination prayer was offered by Elder R. L. Bradford of the Shore district. The welcome was extended by Elder L. B. Reynolds, editor of the Message Magazine. Hands were laid on by Elders J. H. Wagner, Furman Beatty, W. A. Thompson, W. R. Robinson, W. L. Cheatham, Robert Woodfork and A. V. Pinkney.

HERE IS AN OVERALL aerial view of the encampment at Pine Forge of Allegheny conference, Seventh Day Adventists, which is attended by thousands of persons from seven states and the District of Columbia. In the lower half of the photo and again at right are the family tents that are used in addition to Pine Forge institute dormitories. The long, narrow building at left is the permanent cabin and next to it, the young people's tent. In the center are the field dining room (with workers' quarters on second floor. Just below it is the sanitary house with showers and hot water. Just above it is the children's tent. The three tall poles just left of the uppermost road are for the big top, where the major encampment events are held. The building closest to the road at right is the conference Book and Bible house. The ten-day encampment ends Sunday.

L. W. BRANTLEY, manager of Allegheny Conference Book and Bible house, discusses sales for the day with his secretary, Mrs. Geraldine Handy. The Book and Bible house is open in connection with the Summer encampment of the conference at Pine Forge.

Pastor Jacob Justiss, Jr., was first introduced to the Advent message by his sisters, but did not become a church member until he had read literature that convinced him of the truth of the church doctrine. After attending the University of Toledo, in Toledo, Ohio, for two years, he felt the call to prepare for the work of the Lord and entered Emmanuel Missionary College, Berrien Springs, Mich., from which he was graduated with highest honors.

He received a call to the Michigan Conference, East side church Detroit and Ecorse, Michigan. Later he was moved to Northern Michigan as district pastor. It was while here that the Michigan Conference sent Pastor Justiss to the Seminary in Washington, D. C., where he was graduated with an M.A. degree with a thesis, "The Origin and Development of the Seventh-day Adventist Health Work among Negroes."

While in the third quarter of an additional year on the advanced degree of the Bachelor of Divinity, Pastor Justiss accepted a call to connect with the new Colored Conference, the Allegheny Conference, as Instructor in History at the proposed new Pine Forge Institute which was to open shortly. This transference from the ministerial to the teaching field, though thought at first for only a season, grew into two full years (Continued on Page Seven)

Welcome From the President

Again, dear believers, it is our privilege to warmly welcome you to campmeeting. It is here that we unburden our hearts, put aside hinderances and receive the refreshing spirit which has hallowed these grounds.

In word and in song we worship the King and renew the bonds of Christian fellowship which ties us together in oneness of faith.

May every heart respond to the surge of consecration and determination that God in his great love will unfold you to Himself.

To those who are meeting with us for the first time we especially welcome you. It is our joy to make you comfortable and at ease. We share with you our joys and invite you to return.

Minister's Belief in Following God Leads Him to Person Who Lost Purse

By A. V. PINKNEY

Elder Harry D. Dobbins, architect and builder for the Allegheny Conference, returning from the Pan American Youth Congress in San Francisco, found a woman's purse on Highway 40 about 150 miles east of Reno, Nev.

Driving his Buick carrying several delegates who were singing softly some of the melodies that thrilled the Youth Congress, the driver halted and picked up from the public highway the purse. Its contents were the usual effects with snap shots, $42.00 in bills and a major oil company's credit card, and a New Jersey driver's permit.

"It looks as if this just dropped from a car," said Elder Dobbins. "Keep your eye alert for a New Jersey license plate. We may find the owners."

For more than an hour they drove and coming into a little town a car bearing a New Jersey plate was sighted across the road in a filling station. Dobbins pulled up, but before getting out one of the girls in his car said, "There is the lady in the photo with the scarf around her head."

As Elder Dobbins drew near he heard the driver of the New Jersey car say, "Dear do you have the credit card?" "Yes," she said, "it's in the car." One look and she exclaimed, "Is not here its gone! Well, we will have to drive back to the hotel." And with that he pulled out six silver dollars to pay for the gas.

Dobbins, who could hardly contain himself, walked up and showing the photo, said, "Do you know this person?"

"Why that's my picture! You know about my purse," she exclaimed.

"Yes," said Dobbins. We have been looking for a car bearing Jersey plates for more than an hour. Here is your purse. A great sigh of relief was expressed and then the questions.

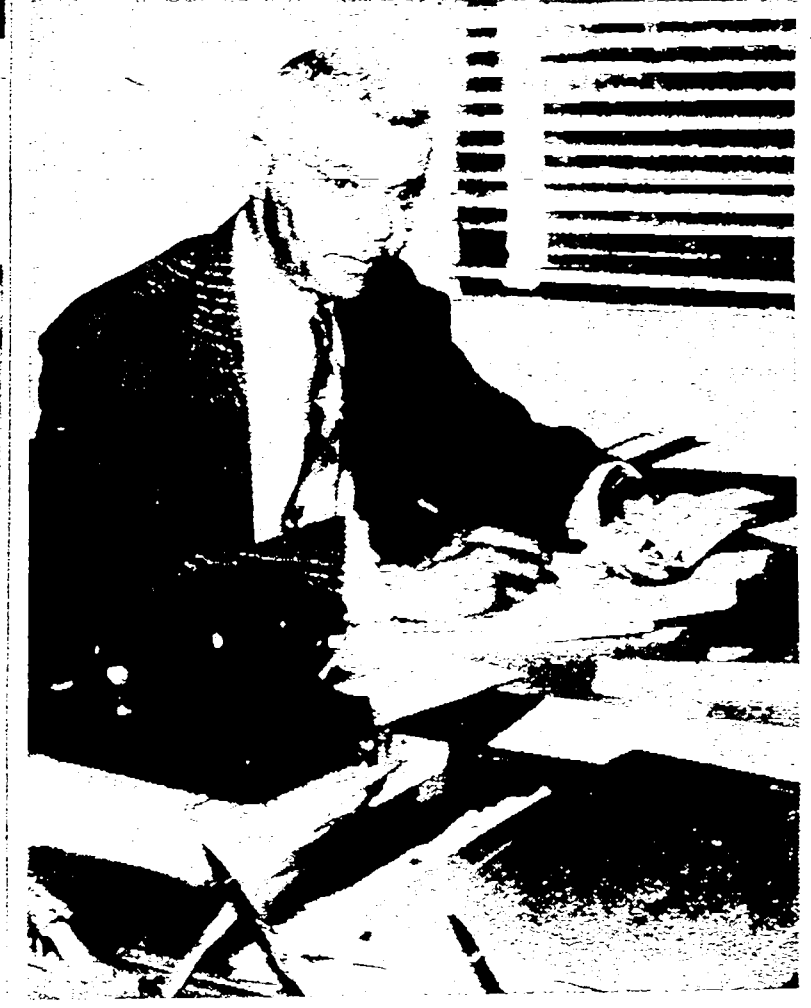

Where did you find it, how did you know we were here?

"Well," said Elder Dobbins, "I am a minister and I believe in God, he lead me to you."

"This is amazing," said the grateful but astonished husband who identified himself as Dr. V. H. Levitz of 1016 Kenyon St., Plainfield, N. J. "Take this," he said, dropping six silver dollars into Dobbins' hands.

H. D. Dobbins, with Lois E. Williams

ELDER MICHAEL S. Banfield, secretary-treasurer of the Allegheny conference and member of the executive committee, served 34 years with the Columbia Union conference before coming to Pine Forge.

FOUR OF THE thousands of out-of-state residents coming to Pine Forge for the encampment of Allegheny conference, Seventh Day Adventists, unload the suitcases and supplies they will be using at the "tent city." Left to right are Elder R. J. Bradford, Sarah Frazer, Martha Harris and Sarah Carter.

A CONTINGENT of the more than 200 youngsters who accompanied their parents to the Pine Forge convention of Seventh Day Adventists are shown as they take time out from their activity program to pose for a group picture. Under the direction of Mrs. Helen Englund, of Washington D. C., who is assisted by a number of church school teachers, the youngsters are kept busy during the convention while their parents attend to more serious matters. A daily program for the children's tent includes games, handicrafts, drills and songs. During other periods, the young boys and girls are taught self expression. These sessions will continue until the end of the convention.

Seventh-Day Adventist Group Boasts 56 Churches, Membership of 5657

The Seventh-day Adventist denomination was entered in the same nomination of which the Allegheny year and Japan in 1895.

The organized work of Seventh-day Adventist which was largely confined to North America until 1847 when the first missionary J. N. Andrews was sent to Switzerland.

This expansion to Switzerland became a touch stone, and Adventism was carried to other countries as well as the islands of the sea.

The schooner "Pitcairn" Tract and missionary societies were organized first on a state wide basis in 1870 and state Sabbath school associations in 1877.

The name, "Seventh-day Adventists" was chosen in 1863 and in 1903 the denominational headquarters were moved from Battle Creek, Mich., to Washington, D. C.

5000 East Germans Swarm Over Border To Purchase Food

BERLIN, July 14 (AP)—A go-getter Western mayor cut red tape and fed thousands of hungry East Germans today in a heart-warming demonstration of practical food relief on Berlin's Iron Curtain border.

Communist propagandists let out a roar of rage at the act. The Soviet zone news agency ADN denounced it as "an American propaganda trick."

While the United States and the Bonn republic were still discussing ways and means of getting 15 million dollars of free American food to the stricken Soviet zone, Willy Kressmann went into action this morning.

As mayor of the American sector borough of Kreuzberg, he opened a relief market at 9 a. m. in Oranienplatz facing the police-guarded frontier of Soviet East Berlin.

By collecting private donations and drawing on borough charitable funds, he stocked the market with milk and fruits for sale to East Germans at less than a fifth their normal price.

Five thousand East Germans swarmed past the Communist police posts to gather up 1820 quarts of milk, 2200 pounds of cherries, and 11,200 oranges before the market closed at 7 p. m.

Indian Quits Tribal Post To Further Education

SELLS, Ariz. (AP)—The leader of the Papago Indians, 33-year-old Tom Segundo, has resigned as chairman of the tribal council to work toward a law degree at University of Chicago.

Segundo, regarded as one of the Nation's most influential Indian spokesmen, is a graduate of University of Arizona.

"I have long felt I could be of greater service to my people if I were to continue my education," he said.

Scout Camp Visited By Kiwanis Group

Pottstown's Kiwanis club paid a visit to 400 Boy Scouts at Camp Delmont, near Summerville, last night.

Instead of holding their usual meeting, the Kiwanians ate their evening meal with the Scouts in the camp dining hall and spent the rest of the evening touring the camp.

Led by John Fraser, chairman of the program committee, and Scout officials, the club members viewed the swimming pool and the adjacent lake on which the campers practice boating.

Then they crossed the wooden bridge that spans the lake and watched rifle, fly-casting and archery practice in the "old area" of the camp.

During the dinner the club was entertained by a program of stunts presented by the Scouts.

On Tuesday night the club will tour the new plant of the Doehler-Jarvis division.

Bank Doors Wide Open; Criminals Miss Chance

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Do bank robbers take weekend vacations?

The doors to the Oklahoma City Stockyards bank were unlocked for two days and nights—part of the time wide open—and not a soul entered and nothing was missing.

Policeman W. E. Hamilton discovered the bank door standing wide open. Startled, he summoned police reinforcements before entering. The well-armed officers found no robbers. Banker Ray Trent also could find nothing amiss.

Trent explained the unlocked door this way: "A strong wind blew it open."

ROK Army, Rain, Roaring Big Guns Checks Reds 20-Mile Front Offensive

SEOUL, Wednesday, July 15 (AP)—Rain, ROKs and roaring big guns checked the raging Chinese offensive on the Korean East-Central front today after it had smashed 20 miles inside Allied territory.

By 11 a. m. (10 p. m. Pottstown time Tuesday) it was apparent at US Eighth Army headquarters that the Communist drive on the 20-mile sector had stalled—at least for the moment.

Two inches of steady rain yesterday and last night, a sturdy defense by four Republic of Korea (ROK) divisions and a curtain of Allied artillery fire had up to that time prevented a breakthrough in the Reds' biggest attack since May, 1951.

AP Correspondent Forrest Edwards reported from the front that the Chinese apparently did not press their attack during the night.

THE US FIFTH Air Force said 38 B26 twin-engined bombers blasted the Communist attackers during the night with 190,000 pounds of explosives.

More Allied war planes took off for the battle zone today but the heavy rains sharply curtailed air support of frontline troops.

The Chinese had poured fresh troops from eight divisions—more than 30,000 men—into the big drive Monday and Tuesday.

"This is the greatest achievement of the ROK Army and justifies the great effort and great faith it took to create it," one high-ranking Allied officer said today.

New Twist Is Given To Apple-a-Day Adage

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Now it's "an apple a day keeps the dentist away."

Washington state dentists were told here that "apples do a better job of cleaning the teeth and mouth than a toothbrush."

So said James Robinson, executive secretary of the Southern California Dental association.

Robinson also made the observation: "Children are literally taking sugar baths and destroying their teeth in doing so." He advocated removal of candy vending machines in school and theaters.

Makeup for a Dog

SAN DIEGO, (AP)—A woman customer ordered some black makeup for under the eyes at the Selma Harbert theatrical shop here.

She explained: "My poor dog has no eyelashes, as you can see. And the glare is so hard on his eyes. The darkening underneath helps."

As late as 1900 nearly 99 percent of the world's rubber came from Brazil.

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Do bank robbers take weekend vacations?

The doors to the Oklahoma City Stockyards bank were unlocked for two days and nights—part of the time wide open—and not a soul entered and nothing was missing.

Policeman W. E. Hamilton discovered the bank door standing wide open. Startled, he summoned police reinforcements before entering. The well-armed officers found no robbers. Banker Ray Trent also could find nothing amiss.

Trent explained the unlocked door this way: "A strong wind blew it open."

ROK Army, Rain, Roaring Big Guns Checks Reds 20-Mile Front Offensive

SEOUL, Wednesday, July 15 (AP)—Rain, ROKs and roaring big guns checked the raging Chinese offensive on the Korean East-Central front today after it had smashed 20 miles inside Allied territory.

By 11 a. m. (10 p. m. Pottstown time Tuesday) it was apparent at US Eighth Army headquarters that the Communist drive on the 20-mile sector had stalled—at least for the moment.

Two inches of steady rain yesterday and last night, a sturdy defense by four Republic of Korea (ROK) divisions and a curtain of Allied artillery fire had up to that time prevented a breakthrough in the Reds' biggest attack since May, 1951.

AP Correspondent Forrest Edwards reported from the front that the Chinese apparently did not press their attack during the night.

THE US FIFTH Air Force said 38 B26 twin-engined bombers blasted the Communist attackers during the night with 190,000 pounds of explosives.

More Allied war planes took off for the battle zone today but the heavy rains sharply curtailed air support of frontline troops.

The Chinese had poured fresh troops from eight divisions—more than 30,000 men—into the big drive Monday and Tuesday.

"This is the greatest achievement of the ROK Army and justifies the great effort and great faith it took to create it," one high-ranking Allied officer said today.

Scout Camp Visited By Kiwanis Group

Pottstown's Kiwanis club paid a visit to 400 Boy Scouts at Camp Delmont, near Summerville, last night.

Instead of holding their usual meeting, the Kiwanians ate their evening meal with the Scouts in the camp dining hall and spent the rest of the evening touring the camp.

Led by John Fraser, chairman of the program committee, and Scout officials, the club members viewed the swimming pool and the adjacent lake on which the campers practice boating.

Then they crossed the wooden bridge that spans the lake and watched rifle, fly-casting and archery practice in the "old area" of the camp.

During the dinner the club was entertained by a program of stunts presented by the Scouts.

On Tuesday night the club will tour the new plant of the Doehler-Jarvis division.

Bastille Day Passes And Man Is Fined For Damaging Cell

Yesterday was Bastille Day—France's great national holiday commemorating the attack upon that Parisian dungeon during the French Revolution—but for anyone considering a similar assault on Pottstown's bastille, the news was discouraging.

Lower Pottsgrove Justice of the Peace George W. Bause reported that a man who had started a one-man wrecking job on a Pottstown borough hall cell had been fined $100 on a disorderly conduct charge. Before his hearing, he made restitution to the borough for the $25 damage he had caused to the cell window.

Jenkins also paid $5 for drunkenness on a public highway, the charge on which he was arrested Saturday by Lower Pottsgrove Police Chief Harry G. Chrusch.

Otherwise, Bastille Day went quietly in Pottstown, as police reported no one in the bastille who could celebrate.

Man Urges Quick Action — He's First to Get It

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. (AP) — A local resident who was up in arms when the city council did not install a stop sign at an intersection now wonders if it was worth all the fuss.

The unidentified citizen demanded the sign be erected. He said those who do not heed stop signs should be cited, and he took the council to task for not recognizing the need for the sign earlier.

The sign finally was erected. One of the first violators: The man who wanted it up in the first place.

Skunks Shun Civilization, But Boys Try Again

HUGO, Okla. (AP) — The Elmo J. Robison family found five skunks in their barn lot the past year, befriended them, removed their odor sacs and tried to make pets of them. But one by one all five of them disappeared from the farm.

The Robison boys, Rance and Elmo Jr., recently found a litter of six baby skunks in the barn. The boys checked up and identified the mother as one of the five they had befriended the past year. They now plan another try at making pets of the little cats.

Lost Trailer-Truck Delayed for Permit

A tractor-trailer carrying huge bridge beams through the Pottstown area became lost yesterday morning.

Edmund Hodell, proprietor of the Sunoco Service station in Limerick Center, said the truckers told him they were supposed to be on Route 73 but got onto Route 422.

On Route 422, they were flagged by Jeffersonville State police for not having a permit to carry the beams on that highway. The tractor trailer and its immense load stayed in Hodell's driveway while they got a permit in Norristown.

Hodell estimated the beams were nearly 200 feet long. He said the truckers didn't tell him where they were coming from but said they were bound for Allentown before they got lost.

The Czech government, for five years with rare exceptions, has granted visas for entering Czechoslovakia only to Austrians with Communist backgrounds.

Non-Communist Czechs were barred from entering Austria.

The judge sentenced them to six months but suspended the terms as long as they stay in Mexico. They were ordered sent home.

Vacationing Donors Cause Bloodmobile To Postpone Visit

The bloodmobile has called off its visit to Pottstown today.

A. Emery Lord, chairman of the scheduled visit, said that it was canceled because many prospective donors are on vacation.

Some 40 donors who signed up to give blood today at the American Legion's George A. Amole Post 47, sponsor of the visit, will be urged to make their donation during the blood unit's visit next month.

The next visit will be sponsored by Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Lodge 814. The bloodmobile will be at the Elks home Aug. 19.

Hunter Mistakes Pair For 'Chucks, Kills Boy

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 14 (AP) — A groundhog hunter shot and killed a 4-year-old boy and seriously wounded his father today on a farm near Washington.

Joseph Sobansky, chief Washington county detective, said the hunter, 25-year-old Kenneth Varner of Washington, told him he fired after mistaking the pair for groundhogs. Varner was charged with manslaughter and killing a human being in mistake for game.

Killed was Guy L. McGeary of Washington. His father, Earl, 39, is in serious condition with a bullet wound of the neck. Sobansky said McGeary also was hunting groundhogs on the farm.

Car Stalls at Light, Is Hit by Truck

A car's stall cost it a smashed-in trunk at High and Price streets yesterday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock.

Allen W. Tabias, 213 West High street, said that as the light turned green in his favor on High street, he started forward. When his car stalled, it was hit in the back by a tractor trailer.

The car had its left rear fender and left tail light, as well as the trunk, damaged. The truck, driven by Frank Ulmer, Philadelphia, was not damaged.

Patrolman Thomas Corum investigated.

The thing in the world I am most afraid of is fear, and with good reason: that passion alone, in the trouble of it, exceeding all other accidents.

—Michael Montaigne.

Council Decision Important

TANGLES in a mesh of zoning, dog and airport problems borough council wisely postponed till next Monday disposition of a proposal to install water meters in borough homes.

At that time Albright and Friel, Philadelphia engineering firm which has made an exhaustive study of the borough's water problems, will submit its recommendations and the reasons behind them.

These experts will be able to give doubting councilmen well qualified information on engineers' studies to relieve the annual lack of water pressure in Pottstown's North End.

Two "helpful" suggestions have been made. One is to install meters in every borough home served with water with the hope that the frugality of the average Pottstonian will cut down appreciably on water consumption and thus preserve pressure for others.

The other recommendation is the construction of a huge water supply tank on the highest elevation in the borough. This, its proponents say, will provide enough water and generate enough pressure to keep every lawn green and everybody happy.

Council President William H. Reifsnnyder, in discussing his call for a special session next Monday night, bewailed the fact that only about half the borough councilmen show up for these special get-togethers.

"It's not right for 50 percent of you to legislate for the other 50 percent." In this he was perfectly correct.

Councilmen have taken upon themselves the responsibility of representing their constituents at borough hall. It is up to these councilmen to fulfill their obligations and not betray the trust conferred upon them by election.

If the councilman's own business was at all that was at stake, it's within his discretion to play hooky and go fishing. But it is not fair of him to forget the people who entrusted him with their representation and not show up at official functions.

Next Monday's council meeting is an important one.

And it is important that every councilman cast aside whatever other obligations he has and attend council meeting.

Water is everybody's concern. Councilmen should realize it and delay no longer arriving at a solution to end a nasty water shortage situation which has not only plagued Pottstown housewives but produced a highly unsanitary condition.

Meanwhile, citizens should get in immediate touch with their councilmen, tell them how they feel on this important subject and urge attendance at next Monday's meeting.

Short Cut to the Graveyard

ANYBODY who is seriously thinking of doing away with his life will get a great deal of help from a booklet issued by the bureau of Highway Safety at Harrisburg and entitled, "Motor Vehicle Traffic Fatalities."

In this book are various methods of life extermination which have been conclusively proven by tests on Pennsylvania highways. What's more the only accessory you need is an automobile, which everybody has anyhow; you don't have to go to the trouble of saving up sleeping pills or buying arsenic via a phony prescription. Then too you eliminate all doubt which razor slashes and hanging—somebody might cut you down before you're dead—involve.

During the month of May, Pennsylvania motorists successfully killed themselves by:
● Going around curves too fast.
● Not looking for a train.
● Going through a stop sign.
● Dozing at the wheel.
● One too many drinks.
● Making a right turn from the middle of an intersection.
● Skidding on wet pavement into tree.
● Not closing car door securely.
● Driving on wrong side of highway at crest of hill.

Well, there are a few helpful samples. Any one of them is a sure short cut to the graveyard. Better still, insist on your right of way. Then let us know what method you found successful. We'll send flowers to your funeral in appreciation that another nitwit is no longer driving a car.

Editor, The Mercury,
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see whar the garbage collector is bein' told to put the lids on the cans after he dumps 'em. Those city folks are lucky to get their lids back at all.

I see an Ohio girl won herself $100 by walkin' five miles a day for 30 days. Wal, at present shoe prices she probably lost some money on that deal. That musta been a sole-wearin' experience.

Problems of Clergymen; Shopping Is Baffling

Clergymen's Troubles

To the Editor: It must be tough to be a Protestant clergyman in these topsy-turvy times.

They not only have to put up with casual critics in and out of the church—they also have to turn the other cheek to political mudslingers from both the right and left sides of the road.

On the right are the Senator McCarthy who accuse them of working for the Communist front, being dupes of the Kremlin, fellow travelers and so on down the list of unproven accusations.

On the other side are the Communists, who say our pastors are employed by the capitalists to preach acceptance of things as they are, with heaven as a reward for present hardships.

Personally I don't believe either side. The truth probably is that the preachers don't follow any political line—only the Bible line.

That's why the politicians hate the preachers. They love darkness, and they don't want any preacher to lead the people out into the light.

Clerks vs. Shoppers

To the Editor: Along with a lot of other things these days, shopping is most confusing.

With no one wearing hats, you cannot tell the clerks from the shoppers. And it is a bit embarrassing to ask a man where the underwear section is only to be told he is waiting for his wife.

Why not have the store clerks wear hats from May 15 to September 15? Except, of course, on rainy days in the Summer when they should also not wear hats.

Build Slower Cars

To the Editor: Why are we allowed to buy cars with speeds of 100 miles per hour when the law says we can't drive over 50? It seems to me instead of raising such a hue and cry to slow down that it is up to you and me to pass a law that car manufacturers limit their cars to 50 miles per hour.

Everytime I read where several have been killed on the highways where someone was going 75 I feel somehow to blame. We wouldn't think of giving a gun to anyone mentally weak, but any half-wit can drive a car.

That Hearty Scratch

To the Editor: Between fog machines mounted on jeeps and clouds of spray turned loose by airplanes, I see we've really declared mechanized war on the mosquitoes.

With this all-out blitzkrieg, I'm afraid these buzzing little pests will become as extinct as the dodo bird.

Generally, I guess it's a good thing. Pottstonians of future generations will suffer one less by this, though.

They'll never know the deep-down satisfaction that comes right after giving a king-size mosquito bite a hearty scratching.

Favors Lids On Cans

To the Editor: In regard to what I read in The Mercury about the tops being left off garbage cans after collection, I should like to agree with the councilman who said it was not a good idea.

Frequently, when I take the trash and garbage out, I find the tops off both cans and a couple of inches of water in the bottom of them. In the first place, this is not healthful, since bacteria and so forth breed best in damp or wet places.

In the second place, I think it is easier for the collector to stoop over and put back the tops than it is for me to stoop over and empty the can.

WASHINGTON

Ike Urged to Ask Halt Of World Colonization

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, July 14 — President Eisenhower has had to listen to a wealth of sharp advice recently to the effect that he must assume more positive and independent leadership in the world-wide struggle against Russia, even though he offend Britain and France by insisting that they abandon colonial rule throughout the universe.

American dollars, material assistance and military reinforcement alone, he has been warned, will not buy friends in the Far East, Asia and the Middle East, now the most sensitive fronts in the cold war. Mutual Security funds will simply "go down a rat hole," unless they are backed by the spirit which inspired the American revolution of 1776.

It is not communism so much as a natural desire for freedom and independence, according to this viewpoint, that inspires the struggling peoples of Indo-China, Iran, Egypt, North Africa, the Arab states and other backward lands.

In short, Eisenhower has been urged to demand that England and France renounce all claims to political and economic control where they still exercise it, and free their colonies and protectorates for self-development. Ike has shown intense interest in the proposal.

DIRKSEN REPORT: Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, a Midwest conservative and a Taft supporter at Chicago, recently discussed this grave problem with Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles after visiting Japan, Korea, Formosa and Southeast Asia.

The Dirksen report has assumed even greater significance against the violent background of the rebellion against Moscow's brutal colonial rule in the satellite countries.

In an extremely dramatic recital, Dirksen reports that the French are making no headway in Indo-China against Ho Chi-minh's 300,000 guerrillas, even with our annual contribution of $500,000,000. Despite 88 years of colonialism, the natives are not reconciled to outside domination.

"The French own the country by day," says Dirksen, "and the rebel forces own it by night. When we were at Saigon, which the French have made into a miniature Paris, it was a novelty to see a number of guards armed with shotguns around the home of the Charge D' Affaires, so that we would not be shot while we were eating dinner."

PERSASION FAVORED: Two days before the Fourth of July, appropriately enough, Dirksen placed his plea before the President and Secretary of State at the White House. He said:

"It seems to me that, if we are going to hand over another $400,000,000, in all good conscience and in the name of the sacred tradition of America, as we place the 17th candle on our anniversary cake, why can we not declare publicly that there is a target date for independence, for a constitution and for freedom?"

"Is not that what we are fighting for? Is not that the ideal and the objective of the free world?"

The Dirksen stipulations, as well as other amendments prodding the British and French on this question, would have commanded a Senate majority save for White House suggestions that the problem should be handled through quiet diplomatic persuasion rather than Congressional pressure.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

BUD, IS a husky pointer dog, with brown markings on his white coat.

"If anybody would offer me $1000 for Bud, I wouldn't take it," said Mrs. Crane's father, now aged 90.

Grandpa Miller, as we usually call him, celebrated his 90th birthday last November 19. He lives on our farm in Indiana, with Bud as his only companion.

Mrs. Crane and I drove down there for his birthday party. It was a gala event. Bert Boggs, publisher of the local weekly newspaper, came out for the cake-cutting ceremony and brought his vivacious young wife.

Mr. Boggs took a number of pictures of Grandpa for his newspaper but we always saw to it that Bud was included, for Bud is Grandpa's pride and joy.

BUT THE WEEK before Christmas, Grandpa took very sick. He was bed-fast. He couldn't hold food in his stomach. He was also irrational.

So one of my relatives telephoned us in Chicago that we better come down, for Grandpa might not live.

Mrs. Crane and I drove down and found Grandpa in pretty bad shape. Normally, a man of 90 in his condition would not pull through.

But I knew Grandpa had a rugged constitution. And he was still sufficiently conscious at times to demand that Bud sleep on his bed beside him.

Meanwhile I used our official drugs to combat his medical trouble, but realized that Bud was probably as influential on Grandpa's mind as sulfa and penicillin were on the microbes invading his system.

When Mrs. Crane would feed Grandpa, as we had him propped up in his bed, Bud always lay beside him with his front paws across Grandpa's thighs.

And Grandpa would stop to feed Bud a bite now and then. In fact, Grandpa would demand that Bud sit up and "speak" before he got a bite of toast. So Bud dutifully sat up and barked to earn his tidbit.

NOW IT MIGHT seem very unhygienic to let a big dog occupy a sick bed beside its master. And it is true that Bud's short white hairs were all over the top coverlet.

But Bud's effect on Grandpa's peace of mind more than offset any dirt or germs which he brought into the sick room.

Moreover, he stimulated Grandpa mentally. And mental stimulation causes aged persons to perk up so their glands function better. Then their appetite improves and they eat better.

I don't want to minimize for one instant the value of the sulfa tablets and penicillin and iron that I gave him, but Bud deserves equal credit.

Jerry Lewis put the British newspapers in a bad mood when they beamed—in an interview—about the "unfair" press. (Oh, you silly boys!) It looks as though ABC has snared the Theatre Guild's big new dramatic series... Sir John Gielgud's 86-year-old mama will have her memoirs published this Fall.

BROADWAY GUESSING GAME: The big excitement of the past weekend at Fire Island was an "engagement party" for a handsome young Hollywood star (once engaged to a tempestuous glamor girl) and a famed folk singer. But don't wait for the betrothal to hit the formal announcement columns in the gazettes.

There's a gambling ring operating right in and around the United Nations building. "Brans" behind it is the chauffeur for one of the delegates... Biggest laugh in Paris is the middle-aged movie actor, still a romantic type, who wears makeup all around the clock.

A former great Pittsburgh All-American has his best pals worried over his heavy drinking... Paula Stewart, the singing lead of the Versailles revue, has a real estate millionaire in a spin. HOLLYWOOD, July 14 — Danny Thomas amused a group at Ciro's saying his kids call him, "Uncle Daddy" — because he's away so much! All that will be changed soon though. Because Mr. T will be working in Hollywood for months to come — mostly on his new television series — Brynne Foy, who soon goes to Columbia to produce another of those 3-D "horror" pictures. "The Mad Magician." It's trying to get Joe Cotten for the top spot. When someone asked Foy what "Magician" will be like, he quipped, "It will be 'The House of Wax' — played backwards!" P. S. — Brynne, it so happens, also produced "Wax" out of which Warners are only making a mint! ARCHIE CRANSTON, of the "Mr. Roberts" cast, and cover-girl, Jane Gilbert will tie the knot next month... "Little Boy Lost" was "officially" previewed for the press at Paramount studio and just about everyone is saying it's the greatest thing Bing Crosby's ever done. And that if "Going My Way" won him an Academy Award (which it did!) then "Boy" should win him two Oscars! If you remember, that's almost exactly what this report said a few weeks ago, after we had a sneak peek at the picture at producer Bill Perlberg's house... Peter Arnell's switch, "When a girl wears falsies, there's always less than meets the eye!"

JEFF CHANDLER is back from New York, trying to mend his marriage—but Marjorie says she won't take him back. And now Jeff admits he's moved out! Rita Moreno and Frank de Rita, both coming along nicely with their careers, were getting along more than nicely at Ciro's... Guy Mitchell left for New York and London where he'll play his second Palladium engagement. His bride, Jackie Lougherty stays here, saying she prefers to work. (!) While Zsa Zsa and George Sanders are still wrangling, his brother Tom Conway ("Inspector Mark Saber" of the TV waves) and Mrs. Conway are about to tell their troubles to a judge. The Conway case is slated for a California court. Lief Erickson is starting rehearsals for the B-way show, "Tea and Sympathy" of which the movies' own, Deborah Kerr will be the star.

★ CONSOLATION FOR ELKS — The drill team of Pottstown Elks lodge, which won the national lodge championship in 1952, got a little consolation at this year's convention in St. Louis, Mo., after it finished fourth behind Charleston, W. Va., Lancaster and Milwaukee, Wis. At the end of the convention, when it was time for the new grand exalted ruler to be escorted to the throne, it was the Pottstown drill team that was given the honor. First-place Charleston was passed over because its highly informal uniforms (which included red shirts with white dots, and straw hats) seemed out of tune with the dignity of the event. The grand exalted ruler requested that Pottstown get the nod because of its snappy, military-like uniforms and the impressiveness of its drills. Incidentally, some members of the local team weren't what you could call happy at the results of the judging, but no formal protest is being planned.

Just under the wire will be Mrs. Roy Thompson, 622 Chestnut street, who will be flying to Germany with her son, Robert, to join her husband, a sergeant first class in Kaiserslautern. The son will be 6 months old Aug. 5. They're leaving July 21. This won't be the first time Sergeant Thompson has seen his son. The father was home on leave when he was born. The father is first sergeant of a company at an Army hospital.

Monroe was quick in stopping his car and rag to assist the fallen boy, who lay on the street injured. So concerned was the reverend that he accompanied the youngster to the hospital, and later took his bicycle to police headquarters, where the boy's parents could claim it. He then went back to the hospital to check further. When he finally talked to The Mercury he said, "Thank God, the boy wasn't hurt worse."

Education of Youth In Sex Problems Urged by Surgeon

The Youth attending camp meeting at Pine Forge heard Dr. Carl A. Dent, Surgeon in Chief of the Riverside Sanitarium of Nashville, Tenn., remove the taboo from sex in his lecture.

Attacking the problem with medical know-how, fatherly experience and Christian enthusiasm, the doctor declared hundreds of students every year are sent home because of pregnancy and promiscuity. There is a pressing need he pointed out, for sex education among the youth.

The problem, he said, cannot be ignored. It is folly to attempt to suppress it. Therefore education on the subject is the only answer. The wise parents will begin early to explain frankly the true origin of birth, the purpose of the sex organs and their God-ordained use. In this connection the diseases and sadness which will attend their abuse should not be neglected.

Sexual diseases in the male and female should be explained. The effects of gonorrhea and syphilis to the individual affected and the spread of these venereal diseases when intelligently explained to the youth serves not only as a safeguard to him but helps to think of the health of possible off springs when he marries.

There is no harm the doctor told the youth in young people mingling freely together in groups. For such associations are wholesome and promotes the development of many talents in young people to win recognition of the group. Hazards are encountered, however when they begin to pair off. This should be avoided. Petting arouses the sex passions and healthy vigorous youth should not engage in such practices. Spoiled lives, crushed ambitions, shame and disgrace attend those who allow and make such advances.

It is noble to look into the face of your intended life's companion with the knowledge that you are clean and pure. This is not a one-

Another visiting hobbyist at the meeting will be Bill Givens, farm director of a Philadelphia radio station, who will speak on the topic, "Why a Hobby?"

Ministers Discussion May Clear Way for Princess' Marriage

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—Commonwealth prime ministers recently held informal talks which may clear one obstacle to a possible marriage between Princess Margaret and a commoner.

A government source revealed today the prime ministers discussed the question of the regency while together in London for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II the past month.

The 22-year-old Princess under present law would become regent if her sister died or became unable to perform her duties before Prince Charles, heir to the throne, reached 18.

The government source refused to confirm or deny whether Princess Margaret's name had been mentioned at these talks, but added:

"You can draw your own conclusions."

IF THE PRINCESS were relieved of her regency responsibilities, one big barrier to a possible marriage to RAF group Capt. Peter Townsend would be removed.

The war hero is reported to be the man of her choice.

Another obstacle—the fact Townsend has divorced his wife—would still remain. The Church of England, of which the monarch is titular head, frowns on divorce.

But that might not loom quite so large if the Princess were no longer holding a position so near the throne.

Built-In Storage Units Answer Need Of Housewife for More Storage Space

Is your home good enough?

The housing experts say there is a 50-50 chance it isn't. And most of them agree that the most common failing of many new homes and most older homes is inadequate or inconvenient storage space.

That's not hard to demonstrate. A leading building industry trade journal reports that a housewife's number one need today is built-in storage space. There are 47,000,000 dwelling units in this country, says another national publication, and half or more of them are obsolete judged by today's design standards.

In an older home there are often plenty of cubic feet in an attic or basement but this area is inefficient, old-fashioned storage. Even the standard closet is out of date. All you can do there is hang clothes and stack things on the floor.

WHAT'S MORE, today's new house has been getting smaller and that adds to the problem of space. In 1940 most houses had at least five rooms. Today, the average new house has four rooms and there are 12 million more children under 14 jammed into the nation's housing plant than there were then.

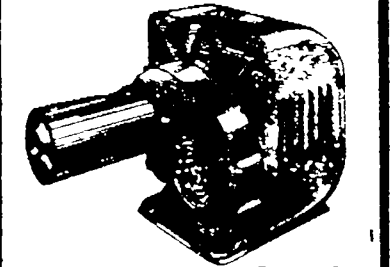

Any way you look at it, most people need more places and better places to put things. Designers agree that large house or small, the most logical solution is built-in storage. This is the most outstanding trend underlying the uncluttered "feel" of a well-planned, modern home.

This kind of storage ranges from carefully planned kitchen

'International Volunteers' May See Action If War in Korea Continues

By F. K. WU
(Central Press Correspondent)
HONG KONG, July 14.—Some 100,000 "international volunteers" drawn from Soviet Russia and the satellite countries and lurking in Manchuria will go into action in Korea if and when the "Chinese People Volunteers" are driven northward of United Nations troops.

This arrangement was agreed upon in Moscow between Premier Josef Stalin and Foreign Minister Chou Enlai of the Peiping regime and ranking members of the Kremlin in early September.

This agreement was reached according to a Peiping report, after Chou Enlai had complained about the heavy Chinese losses in men and equipment while fighting the American and other UN forces.

Premier Josef Stalin then promised to move in his "international brigades" which have been deployed in Siberia and Manchuria since the past Summer.

AT THE same time the "Chinese People Volunteers" have been well trained and equipped during the prolonged armistice negotiations. But to assure victory Moscow calmed Peiping by undertaking to move up the European puppet units as reinforcements in the event of a UN offensive. The "international volunteers" are reported to be seasoned units equipped with the latest weapons, although their morale is not high.

In any event, the Peiping report added that Soviet Russia will back up Communist China in the present war in Korea in order to achieve Moscow Peiping objectives against the western democracies in general and the United States in particular. At the same time, the Peiping regime is ordered to gear up its war efforts "in preparation for further liberation of countries in Southeast Asia."

One of these objectives is the Chinese military aid to the Communist-led Vietnamese insurgents in French Indo-China as ordered by Moscow.

The amount of military supplies has stepped up to about 1500 tons to 2000 tons a month, thereby enabling the Vietnamese troops to start an offensive since mid-October. About 50,000 to 80,000 Chinese Communist troops are scattered in northern Indo-China but will not go into action until the autumn offensive has gained sufficient ground or when the French Union troops and their Vietnamese allies launch a counter-offensive.

The war in Korea and the steady stream of supplies to the Vietnamese forces are being borne out by the vast sums extorted from the Chinese people in the name of anti-corruption drive which yielded an equivalent of about US$2 billion.

A local banking source estimated that an equivalent of about US$90 million have been remitted to Hong Kong for the purchase of various goods and other disbursements.

To foot at least a part of the bill for the world liberation movement as announced recently in Moscow, Peiping is mapping out fresh taxation schemes. Students of Chinese public finance here said that the Chinese sponge is not squeezed quite dry by the anti corruption extortion racket of the past year and that it is possible to force out a few more drops from the unwilling and greatly impoverished people.

Continuous exploitation of the people in the name of defending the country against the "American aggressors" at China's gateway Korea, has resulted in waves of resentment against the Peiping regime, which is however determined to ride roughshod in the mercy game of get-rich-quick. It is felt here that continuous drawing of wealth from the people without giving them a chance to recover has alienated their loyalty and support.

Also large sums of money are required for the development of the vast and semibarren north-west as the base of a third world war.

Lanchow in Kansu province is to be the industrial and communication center and possibly the war time capital.

The Lunghai railway from Haichow on the coast in North Kiangsu is to be extended from Paochi in Kansu right up to the provincial capital of Lanchow. From Lanchow the rail road will be built westward to Tsinia, provincial capital of Shensi, covering a distance of some 700 miles over rugged and mountainous tracks.

Other proposed railroads will be built from Lanchow to Paotou in Suifu province in the north sea Ninghsia province. Paotou has been the terminus of the Peiping-Suifu railway which is linked with the Siberian railway.

In brief the northwest will be connected by railway with the USSR via Sinkiang and Manchuria. Lanchow is also to be connected to a southern direction with Chengtu, important provincial capital of Szechuan, and eventually with Kwangsi province and the borders of Indo-China.

Chinese press reports quoted Radio Moscow as announcing a five year industrial plan for China, although no details were given. It is expected by observers here that iron and steel works, machine shops, arsenals, cotton mills will be set up in the northwestern provinces to turn out strategic goods in support of Soviet policy vis a vis the western democracies.

However, it does not necessarily mean that there will be no general war until after the next four or five years in the opinion of the observers, as all depends on how well Soviet-China intrigue and plans are met by the democratic camp.

500,000 See Parade Staged by Shriners in Mid-Manhattan

NEW YORK, July 14.—Twenty five thousand fun-ben Shriners took over Upper Fifth avenue today to show half a million parade wise New Yorkers how a parade should go.

For six hours they frolicked over a two-mile route, mainly along the edge of Central park.

Colorful costumes, blaring horns, trick vehicles, flashing scimitars—all spilled into the heavy noontime traffic of mid-Manhattan's main thoroughfares, where additional tens of thousands stopped to watch in smiling good humor.

The brilliant, multi-colored spectacle was a feature of the 79th annual convention of the ancient Arabic order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, a Masonic organization.

OSTENSIBLY TODAY'S parade was in honor of the shrine's retiring imperial potentate Harvey A. Beffa, St. Louis.

There's to be another along the same route Thursday night in honor of the new officers. It's been billed as the more colorful of the two shows.

How there could be much color left after today is hard to see.

A hundred thousand Shriners and their families are in town.

Farmer Owns 30 Cows, Says One Worth $300

FARMERSBURG, Ind., July 14.—Farmer Jack Hayden needs the answer to a $300 question — which of his 30 cows ate the greens without chlorophyll?

Hayden's wallet slipped out of his pocket as he fed the cows Tuesday. When he found it an hour later in the big manger, 15 crisp green 20s were missing.

A $700 check from the sale of some pigs was still in it, though. The cow apparently considered it indigestible as well as non negotiable.

Hayden would slaughter the culprit to get his money back—but which one?

It is believed that a furnace as high as a 13 story building used to treat aluminum in a Meadville Pa. plant (Westinghouse) is the world's tallest.

'Unspeakable Gift' Explained at Pine Forge Conference, Before 1000 Seventh Day Adventists Gathered in Tent

The "Unspeakable Gift" was explained at the Pine Forge conference of Seventh Day Adventists yesterday.

Addressing more than 1000 persons in the big tent, Conference President J. H. Wagner remarked that "every good gift" comes from God.

"God has a storehouse of gifts for those who love and serve him," he continued "but only one of these is termed 'unspeakable'."

It is the gift of God's Son—the sacrifice that He made for sinful men, the speaker explained.

"When we think of the great sacrifice that He made for us, we are overwhelmed," he went on. "We are speechless — our voice-box refuses to function."

"What matchless love!" the speaker exclaimed.

HE WENT on to analyze the function of speech, for which he pointed out that three things are essential.

- 1. Thought.
- 2. Language (or speech)
- 3. Voice box

He continued with a list of what God's "unspeakable gift" means to persons in different walks of life.

Among those he mentioned were the artist, the builder, the baker, the doctor, and others.

The artist says, "One altogether lovely"; the builder says, "Chief cornerstone"; the baker says, "The bread of life"; the doctor says, "He is the healer."

The florist says, "Rose of Sharon"; the farmer says, "Seven who went forth to sow"; the sailor says, "chart and compass"; the traveler says, "The Way, the Truth and the Life"; the jeweler, says, "The Pearl of Great Price"; and the horticulturist says, "The True Vine."

AMONG Bible descriptions of God's gift, the speaker recalled, is the one by Abraham, who said, "Melchizedek, king of Salem"; that of Isaiah, who said, "Emmanuel, wonderful counselor"; Jeremiah, who said, "Branch of David, the Lord, our Righteousness"; and Hosea, who said, "Lord, God of Hosts."

In the New Testament, His Disciples described God's Son as "Christ, the Messiah"; John the Baptist called Him "The Lamb of God"; and God Himself said, "This is my Beloved Son."

Even the Prince of Darkness acknowledged Him, the speaker reminded his listeners.

Speaking of Jesus, Satan said, "I know thee, whom thou art—the

ELDER JAMISON

Holy One of God"

THE MORNING speaker in the big tent yesterday was Elder S. L. Kaplan, Adventist missionary to the Jews.

Telling of his life, Elder Kaplan described himself as a Jew by birth and an infidel by choice before his acceptance of the Adventist faith.

He had set out early in life to become an artist, he related, and had begun his training by enrolling in the Academy of Design soon after his family came to America.

Once, looking up at the stars, he exclaimed on impulse, "Oh, that I could know the Master Artist!" Little did he know, he said yesterday, that God heard that prayer and in a few years would answer it in a marvelous way.

The young artist ended his scholastic career by winning a prize of $1400 and the privilege of traveling abroad.

He soon found himself in Seville, Spain, he said, where God began to answer his prayer.

A MYSTERIOUS voice told him, to enter a certain hotel, and there in the lobby he met a colporteur, or distributor of religious books.

The colporteur was Elder E. A. V. Robinson, head of Adventist publishing in that country, and under his influence Kaplan became interested in Bible studies, during which "familiar Old Testament Scriptures took on new meaning."

He bought a Hebrew Bible and spent much time comparing the text of it with that of a King James Version Elder Robinson had given him.

Under conviction for his sins, Kaplan felt the necessity of making some sacrifice, and at first thought of giving up his artistic career.

But on returning to America and being disowned by his family for religious reasons, he enrolled in Emmanuel Missionary college, an Adventist school.

From there he set out to convert the Jewish people to his new faith, beginning in the Bronx, New York City.

SUCCESS in his work of faith was his from the start, he said, and he conducted 100 street meetings in New York alone, assisted by the wife he had met at the missionary college.

Other speakers on the fifth day of the ten-day convention yesterday included Elder H. L. Bradford, who conducted a 6:30 a. m. testimony meeting in the big tent, and Elder T. H. Jamison, of the General Conference, Washington, D. C. who spoke in the afternoon.

Other speakers were Elder E. V. Robertson, Washington D. C., and Elder J. H. Lester, Newark, N. J., who spoke yesterday morning, and Elder W. H. Fordham, Washington, D. C. who spoke last night.

Today's meetings will begin with 6:30 a. m. devotions led by Elder A. H. Burgess, Philadelphia.

Elder C. A. Moser, Washington, D. C., will speak at 8:45 a. m.; and Elder W. R. Robinson of Pine Forge will conduct the 10 a. m. gathering.

Elder J. E. Farrow, Norfolk, Va., will be the 11:30 a. m. speaker.

In the afternoon Elder Kaplan will be heard again at 2:30 p. m. He will be followed by Dr. Eva B. Dykes, Huntsville, Ala., who will conduct a "family hour" at 3:30 p. m.

Elder W. I. Cheatham, Baltimore, Md., will bring the sermon at the 7:30 p. m. night preaching hour.

Pottstown Soldier Who Saved Own Life Due Home Today

The Pottstown infantryman who saved his life by handing an exploding grenade to a Chinese soldier this past Nov. 15, will return to his home today.

Sgt. Edward McClintock, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McClintock, 722 North Hanover street, will come back to Pottstown with his parents and brother, Robert, 15, of 4010 Fort Meade, Md.

He phoned his mother last night after arrival in the Maryland camp by plane from Camp Stoneman, Calif. He returned from Korea this past week.

McClintock saved his life by handing a grenade ready to explode into the hands of a startled Chinese infantryman.

He then ran for his life while the grenade exploded. McClintock enlisted in the Army for two years in January, 1952.

Group Approved to Study Anthracite Mine Flooding

HARRISBURG, July 14 (AP)—A Senate committee today approved establishment of a special commission to study ways of eliminating flooding in Pennsylvania's anthracite mines.

To be known officially as the Anthracite Mine Drainage commission, the group would report to the Governor and the 1955 General Assembly on how best to improve mine drainage.

The commission would include the State secretary of mines as chairman and six other members named by the governor. Three would come from the ranks of coal mine operators and three from the union representing the coal mine employees.

Quints Have Drawback; Birthday Parties Halted

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 14 (AP)—The Diligent quintuplets, who had their last birthday party when they were eight, will be ten years old tomorrow. Like the past year, no celebration is planned for the two sons and three daughters.

THIS IS JUSTICE?—If the Clay county court in North Kansas City, Mo., does not pay for the judge's courtroom furniture, Magistrate D. C. Campbell will have to continue meting out justice across his orange crate desk. He bought the furniture in 1950 without consulting the county court and the furniture company finally took the desk, chair, etc., back until a decision is reached.

of Franco Diligenti, wealthy manufacturer.

Diligenti is trying to raise them as individuals rather than a group. The abandonment of birthday parties is a step in that process.

The quints, however, are reunited for the anniversary. They are on vacation at Mendoza with their parents and two older sisters after living separately the past year at the five English boarding schools in Buenos Aires.

Soviet Calls Meeting Of Supreme Council

LONDON, June 14 (AP)—Russia's supreme Soviet (parliament), which last met four months ago to confirm Georgi M. Malenkov as premier, is to meet again July 28, the Moscow radio announced tonight.

The call was issued by Marshal Klement Voroshilov, chairman of the supreme Soviet's presidium, and Nikolai Pegov, secretary of the presidium, without disclosing the topics that will be considered.

The likelihood, however, is that the session will be concerned primarily with two themes:

- 1. The Malenkov regime's first budget.
- 2. Rubber stamping of the removal of Lavrenty P. Beria as internal affairs minister and his replacement by Sergei Kruglov.

The supreme Soviet, the elected legislative body of the Soviet union, has only nominal power. Its job is to approve whatever actions are passed on to it by the Communist party and the council of ministers (cabinet).

Navy Calls Off Search in Mid-Pacific As Transport Returns With 14 Bodies

HONOLULU, July 4 (AP)—Searchers said today that a violent explosion aboard a Transocean liner four-engined plane apparently plunged its 58 occupants to death without warning Saturday night 350 miles east of Wake island in Pacific waters teeming with sharks.

"The cause of the crash was believed to be an explosion," radioed that this was an error. The new report said the bodies "showed no signs of explosion but hair not burned."

The explosion must have occurred within minutes after the big DC-6B last reported a position at 10:28 p. m. Saturday night.

The huge search launched by the Navy's Hawaiian Sea Frontier began early Sunday. At one time more than 20 planes and ten ships were involved.

Twelve of the bodies were stripped of clothing. The clothing of the other two was in shreds.

Six military ships and a tanker had continued the search after the Barrett left the scene.

Recovery of the 14 bodies found by the Barrett was made dangerous by sharks which were voraciously attacking them.

"None of the bodies recovered were a life jacket or showed any evidence of preparing for the impending crash," the Barrett radioed.

The 14 bodies were those of a boy, a girl, nine women and three men.

Many of those aboard the lost plane were civilian workers and their families bound from Guam for a summer vacation in the United States.

Previously the Barrett had reported the plane apparently burned, but today the transport radioed

RED PROTESTS GI Back From Lost Command Post CLOUD LATEST TRUCE MEETING

CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Wednesday, July 15 (AP)—A pale, trembling American came back from a lost command post today.

The mark of a man who might have been killed but was not stood out clearly upon him.

His hands shook as he smoked his cigarette. His face was white. His arms and legs were bleeding, and his green fatigue uniform was in shreds.

Pfc Charles E. Duke, 26, of Ninneka, Okla. chose to crawl two miles through a field of exploding shells rather than surrender.

BUGLES BLEW outside the regimental post at 3:30 a. m. and Chinese—hundreds of them—swarmed into the surrounded area. They entered the command post under the eerie light of green flares.

"They looked like ghosts in the light," Duke said.

"Then the flares died out and all hell broke loose. You couldn't tell Chinese from Koreans; everyone was shooting at everyone else."

Duke was a radio operator in the military advisory group with a South Korean regiment. Six Americans were in the command post when the Chinese overran it. Only two got out.

Just after the Chinese blew their whistles and bugles," Duke said "the major (Joseph Stevenson of Henderson, Ky.) called me and told me to burn the equipment."

"I didn't have time. I picked up the radio and banged it down until it broke."

MAJOR STEVENSON was the other American who escaped the encirclement, but Duke did not meet him after the phone call.

Duke said, "I ran for the weeds near the command post and found three other Americans. One made a break for it but we haven't heard from him."

"The other two were thinking about surrendering."

"I told them that would be suicide. The Chinese don't like KMAC (Korean Military Advisory group)."

"About dawn I began crawling toward our positions. I didn't realize how far away our men had gone. It seemed like it took five hours. It must have been about two hours."

Chinese walked four or five feet from me when I started. I didn't see one after that. I guess they didn't want to get under their own artillery. It was pitch dark all the way.

"I kept wondering what my wife would say when I showed up on the missing list," he said. "I was afraid they wouldn't find my body if I got hit."

"It was raining hard," he said, "but with all that water coming down I was so thirsty I couldn't spit."

Duke found it hard to recollect just what happened at the command post when it was overrun.

"It all happened so fast," he said. "I remember a lot of shooting. I saw bodies and I wouldn't have given ten cents for my life."

NIXON WORKS HARD AT VP JOB

Position Once Slated As Being Easy Task

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—If Richard M. Nixon is right in the way he sizes up his work, he has succeeded in something no one else has done in the history of the Republic.

For Nixon says he has made a full-time job of the vice presidency.

Under the Constitution, the VP is left practically unemployed. His only chore is to preside over the Senate. From the start what should be the nation's No. 2 job often has been looked upon as something of a joke.

Nixon says he spends only 20 percent of his time presiding over the Senate. The rest of the time, he says, is spent as a smoother-outer between President Eisenhower and Congress and the Administration and various agencies.

"I'M FAR BUSIER," Nixon said, "than when I served in the House and when I was a senator from California."

Oddly, the job was low rated even before it definitely was established.

Yet, if the job isn't important, the man who fills it certainly is. Seven Presidents have succeeded to the presidency because of the death of Presidents.

Ike Unable to Budge McCarran on Figure For Immigration Bill

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—A conference with President Eisenhower today failed to swing Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) over to the Administration bill to permit 240,000 extra quota.

Immigrants to enter the United States.

McCarran told newsmen he was standing pat on his insistence that the figure be cut to 124,000, including 40,000 orphans.

Senator Watkins (R-Utah), a backer of the Administration bill who accompanied McCarran to the White House hinted at a possible compromise to get the legislation enacted before Congress quits for the summer around July 31.

Watkins, chairman of a Senate Immigration subcommittee, said if it proves impossible to win support for the administration bill, he is thinking of going ahead "with the best kind of bill I can get."

Watkins and McCarran conferred with Eisenhower for 30 minutes after it appeared they were poles apart on the number of Iron Curtain refugees and others that should be allowed to come to this country in the next two years.

Questioned by newsmen, Watkins said Eisenhower had made no request whatever regarding the bill in the discussion with himself and McCarran.

Governor Loses Shirt Along With His Speech

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Gov. J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware was reported to police that he lost not only his shirt but his speech.

He added that thieves who broke into his parked automobile also took a Summer suit, a razor and toilet articles and two Delaware police shirts.

The speech was prepared for the meeting of the American Association of Workers for the Blind.

The governor delivered another off the cuff — of another shirt.

Nuptial High Mass Chanted for Eve Leck and Nickolas Tynio Rites

Nuptial high mass was chanted to solemnize the morning wedding of Eve Leck, 32 West Main street, South Pottstown, and Nickolas Tynio, Mahanoy City.

Andrew Leck, 18 River road, South Pottstown, and the late Mrs. Leck, are the parents of the bride.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tynio.

Scene of the wedding was St. John's Greek Catholic church in Pottstown.

White gladiolas and palms flanked the altar, which was lighted with burning candles. A white carpet lined the center aisle for the bride's walk to the altar.

Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. John Tapchik, pastor. Mass responses were sung by the church choir, who rendered "Mother at Thy Feet Kneeling" as the bride placed a bouquet at the foot of the Virgin's statue immediately after the exchange of vows.

The double ring service was given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a period gown of embroidered white silk organza over taffeta.

Its fitted bodice formed a scalloped, deep square illusion neckline, filled with sheer tulle, and leg-of-mutton sleeves, full to the elbows and fitted over the lower arms, forming points at the wrists.

Beneath a molded waistline, the bride's bouffant skirt fell to waltz length above white wedding slippers. A deep V apron of matching organza was draped over its front.

Stiff lace formed the coronet which anchored the bride's finger-tip veil of Illusion net, made with a rolled edge.

She carried a white prayerbook topped with a pair of purple orchids and marked with long white streamers.

At her throat, the bride clasped a cross, a gift of the groom, and her only other jewelry was a pair of small earrings.

Matron of honor was a sister of the bride, Mrs. Michael Staversky, 32 West Main street, South Pottstown.

She wore a gown of orchid tulle and lace, with a strapless, all-lace bodice beneath a cap-sleeved bolero of lace.

Her full tulle skirt, worn over layers of satin, was waltz length, and she wore matching lace mitts.

Crowning her head was a large picture hat in matching orchid.

She carried an old-fashioned mosaic of pink, yellow and white carnations tied with orchid ribbons.

Andrew Leck Jr., a brother of the bride, was the best man.

Immediately after the service, a wedding breakfast was held in the home of the bride's sister.

Later, the bridal party moved to Lakeside Inn, to receive nearly 100 guests.

Centering the table were bouquets of white carnations and snapdragons and two lighted candles. The three-tiered, white frosted wedding cake sported a miniature bride and groom at its top.

Standing in the receiving line, and the godmother of the bride, Mrs. Paul Davidock of Morea, wore a black print frock with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

After the reception, the bride and groom left for New York City and a honeymoon in a West Side hotel.

To travel, the bride wore a red cotton skirt with a large black flower applique at its side, and a black shantung blouse cut with a deep V neckline.

Her accessories were in black and she wore her cross and chain school in his home town, works as a grocer.

The newlyweds will be at home in the Pottstown Shirt factory, at 907 West Center street, Mahanoy City. The groom who attended high school in his home town, works as a grocer.

MR. AND MRS. NICHOLAS TYNIO who were married at St. John's Greek Catholic church are pictured above. Her parents are Andrew Leck, 10 River road, South Pottstown, and the late Mrs. Leck. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tynio. For the double ring service she wore a period gown of embroidered white silk organza over taffeta. Stiff lace formed the coronet from which fell the fingertip veil of illusion net, made with a rolled edge. They took a honeymoon trip to New York City. Upon their return they will reside at 907 West Center street, Mahanoy city. She was formerly employed in the Pottstown Shirt factory. He works as a grocer.

National League Wins All-Star Game

Stengel Takes Loss Hard; Claims Poor Call on Hit Batter

CINCINNATI, July 14 (AP)—Casey Stengel, who doesn't love the National league in July as he does in October, took the American league's 5-1 All-Star defeat quite hard today.

The grizzled New York Yankee manager blamed his latest All-Star defeat, his fourth straight at the hands of the Nationals, on what he termed a poor decision and a strong wind.

"Nobody can tell me that Mathews (Eddie Mathews) was hit by that pitch," he grumbled to reporters in the losers' dressing room. "I saw that pitch clearly from the bench. It never hit him. Reynolds (Pitcher Allie Reynolds) and Berra (catcher Yogi Berra) swear it didn't. But that umpire (Bill McKinley) says it did. I asked him to consult the other umpires but he refused. He said he saw the ball hit the batter and that was that."

The disputed play occurred in the fifth inning. Mathews was awarded first base and later scored the first of the National's two runs that snapped a scoreless game.

Blanked with two hits for eight innings by four National league pitchers, the Americans came to life in the ninth. Opening singles by Ferris Fain and Johnny Mize got righthander Murry Dickson in a jam but centerfielder Duke Snider hauled in Larry Doby's towering 400-foot fly in deepest center field.

"THAT BALL Doby hit should have been a home run," snorted Stengel, "but the wind got hold of it and pulled it back. If that ball had gone over the fence, we might have gotten that pitcher out of there."

Stengel paused to catch his breath, then looked up quizzically. "Say, what happened to all those home run hitters of theirs?" he asked. "Everybody's been warning us to back up against the fences against those guys. What happens? We spent the entire afternoon running in to get those singles over the infield. That ball had left before the post-game celebration (Richie Ashburn) hit still blood on it."

Casey was referring to Ashburn's single in the fifth that scored Mathews with the National league's first run, a "bleeder" that bounced past the mound, escaped shortstop Chico Carrasquel and skipped merrily into centerfield.

Reynolds the losing pitcher, accepted his defeat philosophically. "I thought I pitched pretty fair today," he said, "but I wasn't throwing as hard as I usually do. I just couldn't seem to get it where I wanted."

Al Rosen, Cleveland's slugging third baseman, was asked which of the National league's pitchers impressed him the most.

"All of 'em," he replied. "They're all great."

FORMIDABLE YANKS FAIL TO FRIGHTEN OPPOSITION—Eighth members of the New York Yankees were on the American League All-Star squad that was defeated, 5-1, by the National league yesterday afternoon. From left, Coach Jim Turner, Hank Bauer, Johnny Mize, Phil Rizzuto, Johnny Sain, Allie Reynolds, Yogi Berra, Mickey Mantle and Manager Casey Stengel. All took an active part in the game except Sain. Reynolds suffered the loss and Stengel once again failed to overcome the All-Star jinx that has followed him for the past four years.

Pee Wee Reese Happiest Player in NL Locker Room

CINCINNATI, July 14 (AP)—The happiest guy in the entire National league today just had to be Har- (Pee-wee) Reese.

Reese, the Brooklyn Dodger shortstop who is supposed to be nearing the end of a major league baseball career, had played in seven All-Star games but hadn't had a hit in 13 times at bat.

He missed out in his first two tries today as the National league whipped the American league, 5-1. He was the "grippingest" man in the room as the victorious National league players trotted into the clubhouse.

What made it even better was that Reese's mother was in Cros- (ley) field to watch her first All-Star home run hitters of theirs?" he asked. "Everybody's been warning us to back up against the fences against those guys. What happens? We spent the entire afternoon running in to get those singles over the infield. That ball had left before the post-game celebration (Richie Ashburn) hit still blood on it."

PHILLIE HURLERS, REESE PACE 5-1 VICTORY

CINCINNATI, July 14 (AP)—Enos Slaughter and Pee Wee Reese, a pair of old hands at All-Star games, led the National league to its expected fourth straight over Casey Stengel's American leaguers today, 5-1, as four pitchers teamed up for a five-hitter.

The muscular men of the National failed to batter down any fences but they beat the American leaguers to death with a steady patter of singles. Reese's double in the seventh was the only extra base hit of the game, watched by a capacity crowd of 29,545 at Crosley field and millions more on television.

Spent out until the ninth when beating Minnie Minoso's throw to they got to Murry Dickson for one second for a two-bagger run on three hits, the Americans. Paige, master of the hesitation never were in the ball game after pitch, gave up the last two runs the fifth when a two-run burst in the eighth to the delight of the broke open a scoreless tie.

Thus Stengel all-winning man-slower stuff and then almost the age of four straight American batted the ball to the plate. Roy League pennants and four succes- Campanella, who knew Satch in the World Series, lost his fourth the old Negro leagues, waited for All-Star game in a row. While his his pitch and bounced a single fails to reflect his value to the hiters were falling weakly before past the box to center. It was the National pitchers, Stengel Campy's first All-Star hit in 17 must have been strongly tempted trips.

Old Satch fooled around with ERA ratings is Robin Roberts of pinch hitter Snider of Brooklyn the Philadelphia Phils with a 2.53 and finally lost him on a walk. A real workhorse, the ex- after he had retired two hitters. Michigan State bonus player has Slaughter followed Campanella's won 14 games, most in the league system of attack, timing his swing and has permitted 55 earned runs to a soft pitch to send a bounding single past the box into center, scoring Campanella. Dickson fol- lowed with another single that brought home Snider.

Dickson lost the chance for a National shutout in the ninth on Minoso's second single, with two out, Ferris Fain and pinch hitter, Johnny Mize had opened the ninth with singles to stir hopes of a rally by the American. Larry Doby sent Snider to the base of the center-field wall for his long fly and Rosen popped out before Minoso singled to center.

It was a day of frustration for the World Champion Yankees. Mickey Mantle, playing despite a pulled leg muscle, went hitless. So did Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer. Reynolds, second Ameri- can League pitcher, was charged with the defeat, his first in All- Star play.

Until Minoso dropped a hit into right field for a single with two out in the seventh, the Americans had only one hit—Gus Zernial's line single to left in the second. The crowd paid a gross of $155, 634.00 or a net of $126,392.58, into the player pension fund. Another $110,000 went into the fund from the radio television rights.

In the dressing room, Stengel still complained that Mathews had not been hit by Reynolds' pitch in the fifth.

"There wasn't even a mark on the ball," said Casey.

Catcher Berra agreed, with him, naturally.

Casey also thought Doby's long- drive, caught near the wall with two on, would have been a home- run but for the wind.

In the National clubhouse, Man- oger Dressen said: "It just goes" to show that good pitching can't stop home runs."

"Nothing to it," said Musial. "We had those Philadelphia pitch- ing twins (Roberts and Simmons) in there. All we needed was a run or two and we were in."

Roberts 2d Hoyt Wilhelm Sports Lowest ERA

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Dorish of the Chicago White Sox, is Knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm of the American league's earned run New York Giants stands a good leader with a 2.50 average. He has chance of becoming the first Nat- allowed 25 earned runs in 90 in- tional league pitcher in more than mings.

A decade to win the earned run title two years in a row.

Statuses compiled by the Asso- ciated Press disclose that Wilhelm has allowed 24 earned runs in 94 innings for a league-leading 2.30 average. His ERA as a rookie last season was 2.43.

The last National league hurler to top the ERA listings for two straight seasons was Bucky Walters, who turned the trick for the Cincinnati Reds in 1929 and 1930.

Wilhelm has worked in 42 of the Giants' 81 games and all of his appearances have been in relief roles. The 29-year-old bullpen ace has a 55 win-loss record which fails to reflect his value to the team.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE COMPOSER OF A SONG should be sure of his or her own position before suing for plagiarism. Lawyer Alexander Lindsey tells what happened to the composer of a love ballad who charged that another crooner creation was a dead steal of his melody. It was proved in court that both pieces had been lifted from Die Fledermaus classic—and the case, of course, was thrown out of court.

It is Stanley Freeman's notion that if "Oklahoma" ever is produced in Moscow, the curtain will go up to show a stalwart young buckaroo languishing in jail, singing through the bars, to the tune of "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning!"

"Oh, what a beautiful tractor! Oh, what a lovely machine! Maybe I shouldn't have backed her into the tomb of Lenin!"

FEEL RELAXED!

Money is getting so common down in Texas and in one very, very prosperous oil town in particular, that they tell the story about the first-time visitor who only had a $3 bill with which to pay for his $1.50 lunch. He gave the bill to the young woman cashier and then waited impatiently. "Did you forget my change, miss?" he finally asked. "Change?" she asked in all innocence. "What is change?"
